THE VISITORS.

Entertainment of the Senatorial Committee.

TWO VISITS TO THE SEA-SIDE.

The Speeches at Santa Monica. Senator Stewart's Plan—The Work of the Committee.

The Senatorial party arrived early yesterday morning and their special train, consisting of the sleeper Ortégo, a day coach and a baggage car, was sidetracked in the Arcade depot. Senator Jones, of Arkansas, who had accompanied the other members of the committee as far as San Francisco in their wanderings, found himself suddenly recalled on a business matter, and day before yesterday he left for the East. He will rejoin the party later.

The party consisted of the following persons: Senator Stewart, of Nevada; Senator Reagan, of Texas; Representatives Hemphill, of South Carolina, Morrow and Vandever, of California, and Conger, of Iowa; Major Powell, of the Geological Survey; Irrigation Engineer Hinton; Eugene Davis, Sergeant-at-Arms of the committee; Dr. J. M. Hines, Assistant Sergeant-at-Arms; R. S. Boswell, stenographic reporter; C. J. Kappler, private secretary to Senator Stewart, and P. S. Warman, private secretary to Major Powell. Secretary J. M. Davies, of the State Board of Trade, accompanied the party from San Francisco for the purpose, as he explained in the course of the day, of formally turning the committee over to the care of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce. The latter organization was represented in the person of Major E. W. Jones, who has been with the party since they left San Francisco.

OFF FOR SAN PEDRO.

At 9 o'clock a number of the members of the local committee appointed to entertain the visitors assembled at the depot and the special train left for San Pedro. The run was made in a very short space of time. The party then left the cars and went on board the steamer Falcon, which had been placed at the service of the visitors, that they might have a view of the harbor. The waters of the bay were perfectly calm and the ride around the point was thoroughly enjoyable.

The entire party at this time consisted of the following gentlemen: Charles Foreman, ex-Governor Stoneman, Major W. H. Russell, M. R. Higgins, A. H. Denker, Major E. W. Jones, Colonel J. J. Ayers, L. M. Holt of San Bernardino, J. B. Lankershim, Judge Eaton, of Pasadena; Fred Eaton, Colonel H. G. Otis, ex-Senator Cole, Dr. Ainsworth, Hon. A. F. Coronel, Hon. Stephen M. [illegible] of San Diego; General [illegible] E. Hewitt, General Brierly, Colonel A. B. Hotchkiss, of Colton; Captain Banning, J. J. Mellis, J. De Barth Shorb, Major Douglas Gunn, of San Diego; Myrick Reynolds, Frank A. and William C. Kimball, of National City, Cal.; H. B. Maxon, of the United States Land Office of Arizona; J. D. Treadwell, and the Senatorial party enumerated above.

On the boat, General Brierly unfolded a map of the proposed improvements in the harbor, and explained to the Senators and Representatives the lay of the land and water. It was evident that the seed was falling upon fertile soil.

The train pulled out of San Pedro at about half past ten. Major Jones, Secretary Davies, of the State Board of Trade, and several others who had been having a brief discussion as to how best to modify the programme so as to give the party as much of a tour as was possible during their short stay, finally quieted down with the conclusion that it was best to leave the existing arrangement entirely alone.

SENATOR STEWART'S PLAN.

On the way back Senator Stewart explained to several listeners his plan for the development of the scheme which the Government had begun in the investigations of the committee. The next step after the making of the report to the Senate by the committee should be an organized movement on the part of the States which are in need of irrigation. A general convention should be called to which delegates should be sent from all the States interested. The delegates might be chosen either by the Legislature or nominated by the Governor or selected by the trade organizations. At this convention all matters relative to irrigation, riparian rights, etc., should be discussed, and as far as possible, an equable code of irrigation laws obtained. The work of gathering statistics and developing plans for the improvement of various arid districts could be better prosecuted under organized effort, and the States would have a better understanding of what they could reasonably ask from the central government in the way of assistance. In many cases the water which is available for use in irrigation is riparian to two or more States, or crosses the boundaries of different States. Only some such conference, the Senator thought, could successfully grapple with this proposition of what would be a just arrangement all around.

TO SANTA MONICA.

As soon as Los Angeles was reached, after a short run without stops, the train was switched over upon the Santa Monica track and started back for the ocean. The party was conducted to the Hotel Arcadia, where ample preparations had been made to receive them. In the hour that elapsed before lunch a number of the company went into the surf. The others strolled about on the sand. The visitors all expressed themselves as much charmed with the famous ocean resort.

At 1:30 lunch was served. The Senators had particularly requested that it in no wise take the form of a banquet, inasmuch as they were opposed to anything which should seem like a profanation of the Sabbath. Owing to the number of engagements which had been made further along their line of travel, the committee found it necessary to choose between making these trips about this section on Sunday or leaving it unvisited. They finally decided upon the reasonable compromise which was carried out yesterday. In the short time which was afforded they traveled about the country and, in a measure, fulfilled the object of their mission; but nothing took place which could be said to violate the proprieties of the Sabbath day.

At the conclusion of the lunch informal remarks were made by a number of those present. Secretary Davies announced that he now formally turned over the Senate Committee on the Reclamation and Irrigation of Arid Lands which had been in his charge since they entered the State to the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce for their care and guidance. He called attention to the fact that they were all safe and sound and in good condition.

Major Jones accepted the trust in a graceful speech and promised to deliver the committee to their next guardians in as well-satisfied a frame of mind as he found them now.

THE SENATOR'S REMARKS.

After a few remarks from J. De Barth Shorb, Senator Stewart was asked to speak and he replied as follows: "I do not feel that under the circumstances I ought to make anything of a speech, yet as the opportunity of addressing you all on the matters of national interest may not again present itself, I must avail myself of the present time to make a few remarks." The Senator then briefly explained the act of Congress under which the department of Geological Survey had begun its work of reserving reservoir sites and watersheds, and narrated the circumstances of the passage of the resolution appropriating $250,000 for special investigation, which gave existence to the committee of which he was Chairman.

"The work seems now," said he, "about to go further than we had expected. The plan met at first with some opposition from sections of the country where irrigation was not needed and was not practicable. It was thought that there was not sufficient value in these arid lands of the Far West to pay for the cost of survey. It was a new proposition to many Representatives of the Eastern States, and the question was even raised whether the land, when irrigated, would be of any special value. It was found that the preliminary surveys to be made by the Geological Department would not be sufficient, and this committee was chosen to travel the road over, to ascertain in a general way the value of the land when improved, to learn such particulars as quantity of rainfall, gauge accurately the amount of available water, and learn the exact nature and extent of each water-shed. For this the mountain region must be explored, and its typographical features set forth. The mere preliminary work would be expensive, but when it should be done and all the information in a collected form be stored in the hands of the Government, the settler need not go blindfold into an unknown region.

"In our travels through the West we have found some remarkable things; enough to satisfy us that when the completed surveys were made, settlers would pour in on millions of acres. It is a fact, a significant in this connection, that three-fourths to nine-tenths of all the agriculture of the world has been accomplished by irrigation. Northern Europe is the only part of the cultivated world outside of the United States with sufficient rainfall to grow all kinds of [illegible] district in the world which can be cultivated under a rainfall alone, it is natural that we should thus far have given the subject of irrigation but little study. Yet on the lowest estimate there are 1,200,000 square miles of arid land in this country, nearly half the area of the United States, excluding Alaska. British India covers 800,000 square miles, and is by nature supplied with no more water than our own arid region. The latter is capable of an equal amount of agricultural production with India and can support a population as great. It has generally been supposed that this land was worthless, but the publication of our report will show the people of the United States what can be done in making it productive. The large amounts which will be spent by private individuals and by States in the reclamation of this land can be used with infinitely better economy with the assistance of the facts which we are gathering.

"And the country needs all this land for the use of its people. See what a rush there has been to Oklahoma, a country of rich soil but situated in a semi-arid belt, where irrigation would prove very efficacious in bringing out the best results. The Dakotas, which are also settling up rapidly, need water. They have an artesian belt, but how long this supply will hold out no one can say."

The Senator here ran rapidly over the line of travel of the committee through the Western States and Territories, explaining what sections stood in need of systematic irrigation, and what areas could be reclaimed.

"In this State," continued the Senator, "practice in irrigation has supplied you with information, although the laws appear to stand in your way. You have, I say, detailed information, yet through such work as we contemplate, you can get new ideas and learn of new methods. You have advanced in the line of economizing water, for you have more land than water. The results of your experience will be of value to the whole country. One fact of importance should not be forgotten: that drainage must go with irrigation to avoid the deposit of alkali. In the countries where this law has been overlooked agriculture has starved itself out.

We regret the necessity of passing through this country so hurriedly. But what we most need is an object lesson. We find accurate reports ready prepared for us. We wish to see the results. Seeing is knowing. The people of the East have as a rule seen the arid tracts only from the windows of a railroad car, and in this way they get the worst possible impression.

"I believe that if water could be made available for use on this rich soil now arid it would support a greater population than there is in all the East. The public domain is not half occupied. Here then is a different condition of things than in the East, where the failure of a crop is a serious consideration. One acre of irrigated land is worth three or four or five of unirrigated in the variety of crops which it will produce. It is the only kind of land capable of supporting a dense population. Then these arid lands contain quantities of minerals, coal, iron, etc., which will be a source of infinite wealth when cultivation brings population. This despised arid land has a great future. A united effort should be made to develop it that it may open to the support of millions of settlers."

SENATOR REAGAN SPEAKS.

Senator Reagan responded to a request from Mr. Shorb, who served as Chairman, by making a few remarks to the following effect: "The trip which we have made and the investigations which we have held in the various Western States and Territories have been a source of much pleasure and satisfaction to me. I have learned a great deal which was before unknown to me and which I believe is still unknown to the average Congressman. I did not know before that Montana and Idaho could be made to receive millions of population; that in many places the erection of reservoirs at the bases of mountains would ultimately prepare the country below for hives of industrial population such as have never been seen upon the American continent. Congress has at last taken these matters into serious consideration. When the work designed is done the way will be prepared for individuals or States or corporations to utilize the lands which lie ready for improvement. And a people such as have crossed the continent to occupy the Western Territories, such as have made pastures out of the deserts and made the parched and arid tracts bring forth vines and fruits, are the very agents needed to carry on the work. Such a people will make in these deserts the gardens of the New World.

HON. S. M. WHITE.

Hon. S. M. White, who was next called upon, made a brief speech, in which he congratulated the country on its good fortune in having at the head of this undertaking such a man as Senator Stewart, who was conspicuous as the right man in the right place. Under the circumstances, he was confident that the work would be accomplished with the most desirable results.

J. J. Hemphill, Representative from South Carolina, responded when called upon with some witty remarks, in which he took off the tendency of the people of this section to tell unbelievable tales about its climate and productions. He explained his presence with the committee by saying that in the present political situation the Senate did not enjoy the confidence of the House, and it needed watching.

Colonel Hinton made a few remarks in response to a call, describing the work which the committee proposed to do and its value when completed to the whole country.

Colonel J. J. Ayers followed in a brief speech, expressing in behalf of Los Angeles the gratification which was felt at the disposition now displayed by the Government to help the people of the far West. He referred to the fact that although Southern California was the section of the United States where irrigation had had its beginning, yet nevertheless producers were groping about in the dark, unorganized and unassisted. When the laws were properly corrected and the work systematically undertaken the people of the rest of the country would learn through Southern California what wonders irrigation could accomplish.

Brief remarks were made by Colonel Otis and others, and the company left the table. The train left for Los Angeles at 3 o'clock, and a short time later the party emerged from the Arcade depot to enter the carriages which were in readiness to convey them about the city. [illegible] programme of entertainment to be carried out when the party should arrive in their city, next Tuesday. At 8 in the morning they will take the motor train for the Sweetwater dam, returning to the Coronado for lunch. The steamer Roseville will then convey them for a trip around the bay, after which there will be a reception at the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce. The day will conclude with a drive about the city.

In the evening after the ride the Senatorial party was entertained at the California club rooms by the Chamber of Commerce. A dinner was given at which several of those present made speeches. The programme for today will be as heretofore outlined, including a trip to Riverside, San Bernardino and Santa Ana, and the journey to San Diego.

YOUNG LADIES INSULTED.

Two Men Force Their Way Into Their Room.

Quite a sensation occurred in a lodging-house on South Main street last night about 11:30 o'clock. It appears that two young ladies, Miss A. H. Rosenberg and Miss Mary Walsh, occupy a room there together, and shortly before the time mentioned one of them retired. The other young lady was a little later about entering the room, and a few minutes after she had gone into the room there came a knock at the door. The young lady who had retired ran into the closet which was in the room, and the other went to the door, supposing that it was someone residing in the house who wanted something. No sooner had she unlocked the door than two men forced their way into the room, expressing a determination to stay there the remainder of the night. The young lady told them to leave the room immediately or she would call for the police. They paid no attention to her demands, and it is said used some very insulting language. One of the men then went to the closet, and despite the efforts of the young lady on the inside to hold the door closed, he pulled it open and placed here in a very embarrassing position. By this time the other young lady had escaped across the hallway, and secured the assistance of a young man who also roomed in the house. He found an officer who arrested P. S. McGinnis and took him to the Police Station, where he was charged with disturbing the peace. The other man, whose name is said to be J. Brown, and who is a conductor on the railroad running between here and San Diego, escaped. A warrant will be sworn out for his arrest today. The young ladies visited the Police Station last night, where they repeated the statement above given. McGinnis was released on $25 bail.

Aid Acknowledged.

EDITORS HERALD—Will you be so good as to permit me through the medium of your columns to publicly express our grateful acknowledgement of the valuable assistance so promptly and opportunely rendered the Los Angeles Cable Railway Company during the sudden and unexpected storm of Saturday, by Chief Strohm and his staff. Owing to the enormous volume of water which, from all points, poured into our Grand avenue engine house, we would without the aid of the Fire Department, have been utterly unable to operate our cable lines last night, thus causing great inconvenience to a large portion of the public. Faithfully yours,

J. O. ROBINSON,
Superintendent.

THE FUR SEAL.

The Habits of the Animals in their Homes.

ABOUT THE PRIBYLOV ISLAND.

The "Harems" of the Seals and How the Young Seals are Educated for Life.

In a previous paper in the HERALD a brief synopsis of the history of the taking of fur seals was given, showing how a very valuable industry was destroyed in nearly all portions of the globe by an indiscriminate slaughter of the animals. Thus was laid the basis on which to claim police surveillance over the fur seal, and their protection at the hands of our Government. At the hands of our Government; for, as the former paper plainly showed, the only breeding place of the seal left in the world, of any considerable value, is within the limits of our territory. The present paper will be devoted to a sketch of the habits of the seals.

THE PRIBYLOV ISLANDS.

In the year 1790, or ninety-nine years ago last spring, a Russian captain whose ship was fishing near the Aleutian islands in the south part of Bering sea, in the month of May, observed a vast school of fur seals heading away in a north-westerly direction. He proceeded to capture some of them, and noticing that they were working right out into the open sea, and seemingly far from all land, it occurred to him to follow up the trail and learn where they might haul up. After sailing more than 200 miles he came upon the resting place of the seals, on two small islands, about 40 miles apart, and the larger being 33 square miles area and the other 27. Here he found an immense breeding place of the seals. Millions of the animals frequented these rocks for breeding purposes. He reported his discovery to his Government, and the rocks were named Pribylov islands, in honor of the discoverer. From that date until 1867, when the Territory of Alaska was ceded to the United States, this was the great Russian seal fishery. A strict police surveillance was maintained over these islands by the Russian Government at all times.

THE HABITS OF THE SEAL.

The Pribylov islands are an ideal home for the seal. The shores are high and very rocky. From these crags the plunge into deep water is immediate and direct. In the worst weather the waves never wash over these precipitous shores. The rocks are broken in their contour, affording every facility for the seals to reach their chosen abode.

The English and American sailors have invented a very inappropriate and confused nomenclature in speaking of seals, their habits and capture. To begin, the seal is not a fish in any sense of the term. The young of the species are born on land, not in the sea. After becoming of sufficient strength to brave the waves they have to be taught to swim. They are warm-blooded animals, and bring forth their young in a state similar to that of the human species. Seal hunting is a much better term than seal fishing. Then the place where the seals breed is by a strange confusion of ideas called a "rookery," as if the animals were birds. But this is not all. The full-grown male seal is called by the sailors a bull, reverting to whale fishing, and the female is called a cow, as in the whale species. So far well in this respect, but when the sailors come to speak of the young seal, instead of sticking to the whale nomenclature and calling it a calf, these old "sea dogs" call the young animal a pup, as if it were of the canine species. Seals of the male gender, and over a year old, but under 5 years, are called bachelors. Confusion worse confounded reigns supreme in all the sailors' attempts to invent terms for the seal kind.

COMING TO THE ISLAND.

About the last days of April any one standing on the rocks of either of the Pribylov islands, St. George or St. Paul, will find the seal haunts tenantless. But at any moment during such a day he may observe a mile or two to seaward an old male seal lift his head from the waves and make a careful reconnoiter of the rocks before him. He will disappear for a moment and then rise closer to the shore. He will repeat this many times, and if he finds the coast clear he will utter a series of grunts, then approach the rocks, climb them and make a careful inspection of the place, smelling carefully the rocks at each step of his advance. He will then return close to the water and take up his station under the shelter of some great rock. Then for days at short intervals will come other full grown male seals. These will call from the sea to the shore, and if answered by the sentinel on the rock in a satisfactory manner, they will come ashore and take up a position on the rocks. After six or seven days all the rocks along the shore will become tenanted by the seals, each one lying apart from his fellows with spare territory around him. Here they will go to sleep and remain in that state two or three weeks. The least noise will frighten these seals away, and the natives are strictly prohibited from approaching the resting places of the seals during those days of sleep. It is observed that the same seals come to the same rocks year after year, and never miss finding their own abode.

About the end of May the whole school of seals, females and ungrown young, begin to arrive. As their cry is heard out at sea, the males on the watch rouse themselves, call back to them, go into the sea to meet them, and conduct the females to their resting places which have been selected.

SELECTING HOMES.

The females easily recognize their mates and their old breeding ground, and at once take up their abode on their own territory. The males reach the age of puberty not before they are five years old, while the females reach that state of development at two years old. The animal is like the deer, the sheep, the horse and many other species, polygamous, one full grown male being accompanied by from ten to twenty females. The breeding place is laid out after the manner of a city. The territory of each family is marked off from those next by streets and alleys. The animals resent with spirit any attempt to trespass on their rights, and fight fiercely if any outsider intrudes on their preserves. The sea must be reached, and the return to each abode made by way of streets and alleys. The young males that have not reached the age of puberty are driven further up the rocks, to dwell apart from the rest of the family, which the sailors in their omnium-gatherum lingo call harems. They reach the sea and return to it by a separate avenue of their own.

For a few days after the arrival of the school all is confusion in the resting place of the seals, which is for that period anything but a resting place. After many battles each family settles down on its proper territory and if all do not get what they want, each learns to content himself on what he gets. Here the young seals are born and carefully raised.

FAMILY DISCIPLINE.

If a female should be detected neglecting her offsprings the "old man" of the family falls upon her and gives her an unmerciful beating. Like all polygamists, the seal is a brutal wife-beater. But he is better than some of his biped fellow culprits; he only beats the weaker vessel when she neglects the baby. As soon as the young one is strong enough the female leads him to the edge of the rock and casts him into the water. He does not know a syllable of the art of swimming, but the mother is under him in a moment, and before he is drowned she brings him to the surface to breathe. This is continued until the young one is able to take care of himself in any sea, however high.

By the end of October the family is raised and the members taught to shift for themselves.

LEAVING THE ISLANDS.

Then on some day all at once, with much grunting and snorting, the whole tribe takes to the sea, heads away southeast, and disappears for the winter, going through the passes of the Aleutian islands into the shoreless expanses of the Pacific, no one knows whither, what to do or how to live.

While they are on the islands they go daily to feed. The feeding grounds of the seals are forty to eighty miles from the Pribylov islands. The seals go off in the morning and return at night. They swim near the top of the water, and go at a rapid rate. After getting their meal they all return to the rocks again.

Such in a brief sketch is the history of the seal in his native haunts. He is an easy prey to the rifle of the poacher as he goes to his feeding place or returns. On the rocks where he rests, a few men in a short space of time could kill the whole colony, and end the business forever. He is a timid animal, and any noise, the report of firearms, the smell of powder, or any other sign of danger, would in one year drive every seal that escaped the lead of the poacher or the club of the hunter off to the Russian side of the sea where protection is held out, and never more would any American citizen get one seal skin in all our Alaskan possessions.

THE AZUSA BRIDGE.

The Supervisors are Greatly Pleased with the Affair.

On Saturday the Board of Supervisors paid a visit to the San Gabriel river crossing at the Azusa to inspect the new bridge just completed there. The bridge is situated somewhat below the old crossing from the Duarte to the Azusa, and about midway between that point and the Santa Fe railway bridge. It is perhaps three-fourths of a mile up stream from the railway bridge. The span is about 200 feet and the bridge is a miniature suspension affair. The pillars at the ends are of concrete and the viaduct is held in place by wire cables like the Niagara bridge. The bid for the construction of this bridge was one-third less than the lowest for several other plans before the board; and naturally there was some anxiety as to how the thing would turn out. Saturday the Supervisors put 100,000 pounds dead weight on the bridge, and then drove seventeen teams as close as they could follow each other across the concern. It never made the least impression on the thing. It stood as solid as a rock under this load, which is ten times as great as the biggest load it will ever be called on to bear again. The only wood about the bridge is the roadway. All the rest is concrete or steel.

SUNDAY REST.

Discussed by W. F. Crafts at the Pavilion.

Last evening the Pavilion was crowded with people who had assembled to hear Wilbur F. Crafts, Field Secretary of the American Sabbath Union speak on the subject of Sunday law. The Y. M. C. A. orchestra was present and rendered several selections acceptably. Rev. Mr. Crabbe led in prayer, and then Mr. Crafts was introduced and spoke as follows:

PEOPLE OF CALIFORNIA—I greet you as citizens of one of the three mighties in extent of territory of the United States, which three mighties are Texas, California and Montana. We used to sing, "Uncle Sam is rich enough to give us all a farm." California alone is rich enough to give a farm of seven and one-half acres to every family of five in the land. If each man, woman and child was set in the middle of his or her acre and a half, and the signal was given to sink down into the grass or brush, the whole nation would suddenly disappear. Coming westward, I instructed myself as to the comparative sizes of Eastern and Western States by cutting up a railroad map. I found that to cover California required ten Atlantic States, all of New England, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware and Maryland. As the people of California, like other western people, are so manifestly deficient in local pride, I suggest that this deficiency be corrected in the next generation by setting the children at this map exercise, feeding the little States of the Atlantic shore to this sea monster of the Pacific. California no doubt will some day equal these ten Eastern States in population and wealth as well as territory. Your marvelous climate alone would bring the population. On one of the recent August days, a lady in Oakland said that she had just made a trip to San Rafael to get warm. You can quickly find refuge from occasional heat at the seaside, or by waiting a few hours, receive the cool sea air at eventide wherever in the State. This is a State in which you need even in August, and in your warmest valleys, an invention, with clock attachment to lay an extra blanket on each sleeper, at every stroke of the hour from bed-time till midnight. Surely this State will have no lack of wealth, but it will not rise by booms. It is about as safe to rise by bombs. It is dangerous to have either of these in your hands when they go off. Raising corner lots is not your best crop. Your soil is rich, not only in precious metals, but in the gold of your peaches, your oranges, your wheat; in the silver of your buckwheat and your olive trees; in the greenbacks of your corn and vines. An Easterner is in danger of mistaking your strawberries for red apples, your peaches for cantelopes, and your pumpkins for fallen planets. In the Metropolitan Museum at New York, California is symbolized by a hare and a lonely maiden. If I were a sculptor I would represent her more suitably in variegated marble in a fountain group, to picture your miracles of irrigation, as a magestic mother of heroic figure; not bare, but richly clothed, a diadem of your native gold upon her head; her robe of the royal purple of your grapes; her corsage bouquet a sheaf of your golden wheat surrounded by a great household of sons and daughters. But extensive territory, numerous population and immense wealth do not make a State great; only big, like Russia. Character is essential to greatness. California will never be one of the three greatest States in the true sense of the word until she is one of the three best. She must learn to yield not only gold and grapes and grain, but also, with equal abundance honesty, morality and charity. And these can no more be produced without the Sabbath than your fruits without water. California is the only one of our States without a Sunday law. Not New Jersey but California is the foreign land. The only other spot in the civilized world without any Sunday law is France. If you would not be a 'Frenchy' but an American commonwealth, and would draw for permanent residents the best American families, you must cast out the Frenchy and foster the American Sabbath."

The speaker argued that Sunday laws are not religious legislation, but said that "the right arm of the American Sabbath Union is the promotion of the religious Sabbath, its left arm, the preservation of the civil Sabbath." Later on he said: "The apostate Jew who does not keep Saturday but pleads his neglected religion when arrested for opening his shop on Sunday should have no consideration from either gentile or genuine Jews. His case is precisely like that of any other heathen who cares for neither the laws of God nor those of man."

"The Sabbathic Eden of the workingmen can only be protected by the angel of law, as one has said, standing at the gate with flaming sword to keep back the spoiler. The State has nothing to do with the argument for change of day, only with the wish of the majority harmonized to the rights of the minority, but I may turn aside to say that in the Fourth Commandment, to which parties appeal, there is no seventh day of the week, but only a seventh day after six of work. This is a great constitutional provision. The Saturday-Sabbath of the Jews and the Sunday-Sabbath of Christians are only by-laws. The Fourth Commandment can be obeyed by keeping either day, but society cannot wisely encourage or protect more than one of them."

In closing, he said: "The proposed Congressional Sunday rest law at the utmost would not affect more than 1,000 of these Seventh day people, as they cannot be in the mail and military service and interstate commerce and yet keep Saturday, and the further jurisdiction of the law is only in the District of Columbia and Territories in which very few of them reside. There is a question of conscience involved in this matter. It is the question of 2,000,000 of people, as many as were delivered from King George by the revolution, who are now in more serious bondage, the Sunday slavery of greed, working on the Sabbath with uneasy conscience. At Yorktown in the very shadow of the monument that celebrates the close of the Revolution, I asked a colored man who was in charge of an adjoining farm, pointing to a hole in the chimney, evidently made by grape or canister, "Was this done in this last war or in the Revolution?" He answered, "I don't know; how long ago was the Resolution?" There was a good deal of resolution in the Revolution, otherwise the barefoot soldier of Valley Forge would never have trod in triumph the fields of Yorktown. Victory came not of such good resolutions as are made on New Year's Day and in religious conventions. It was resolution without the "s" that delivered those two millions from King George, and like resolution will deliver the two millions who are in the worse bondage of Sabbathless toil today."

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

Notes of the Plays and Those Who Present Them.

FUTURE SOCIAL AMUSEMENTS.

"The Parlor Match" This Week.—Margaret Mather and Little Lord Fauntleroy Coming.

Mme. Janauschek, who is now in Boston, intends to act again during the approaching season.

Mrs. Langtry is at Aix-les-Bains suffering, it is said, from a very severe attack of rheumatic gout.

Lillian Nordica has been engaged for Abbey's operatic tour of America. It is stated she is to sing on Tamagno's nights.

Dion Boucicault says people who are forever elucidating Shakespeare, and getting "new and recondite" meanings out of the text, are humbugs.

The final concert given by Mme. Patti at Buenos Ayres last month produced $23,000. For her concert tour in the English provinces Patti will receive $3,500 per night.

Mayor Grant, of New York, has appointed Mr. Stanton, a salaried clerk of the Metropolitan Opera House, to represent American theatrical managers on the World's Fair Committee, and the American managers think it is the biggest joke of the season.

There are 1,500 actors in New York today who are unemployed; yet over 1,000 English actors are coming to this country to play next season in companies already organized and for which routes are already laid out.

An English manager who would like to indulge in a sumptuous revival of A Midsummer Night's Dream for the autumn in London, doesn't dare to undertake it in consequence of the measures effecting the employment of children on the stage, which are at present before Parliament. The children are always relied upon to personate the fairies.

A prominent New York manager makes the estimate that there will be as many as one thousand English actors and assistants in the London companies coming to America this season, and that at a low estimate they will send back to fair Albion a round million dollars. More than two thousand American actors are as yet in the metropolis unemployed.

Manager Al. Hayman of the Baldwin and New California theaters, San Francisco, announces that he will soon present here the great success, Lettle Lord Fauntleroy. The engagement is one of decided importance. The fact that the play has crowded the theaters in New York, London, Boston, Chicago, San Francisco, etc., commands attention and demonstrates that the play has in it something that the public want. Mrs. Burnett's clever book has been widely read.

"Spike" Hennessey and "Kid" McCoy, the two burglars who are doing the safe breaking act with "The Stowaway" Company, had quite an experience in Philadelphia the other day. Dressed in their slickest cloth, and with a big diamond imbedded in their shirt fronts, they walked into the Battle of Shiloh and inquired if they passed the profession. "What company do you belong to?" asked the girl in the box office. "The Stowaway," answered the "Kid." "[illegible] you are not the burglars," she interjected, as the ex-cracksmen walked into the building. Speaking of the occurrence the following day, the "Kid" remarked that the girl "got on" to "Spikes" because the latter eyed the safe so intently.

A London correspondent writes a New York paper: "Musical people here are waiting with a good deal of interest to see what Patti will do when she gets back from South America next week and learns that Abbey has engaged Albani to sing in opera. The 'Peerless P.' has for years regarded Albani as her bete noire and has said some very sharp things about her. Though Albani will in no way interfere with Patti's roles, it will be very annoying to her to know that she is to be in Abbey's Americas company at all. Bdt Patti is bound fast by contract and it is hard to see what she can do in the matter. This may be Abbey's way of getting even with the 'Peerless' for going back on her word to him last winter and sailing for South America under the management of a man who offered her a little more money. Meanwhile, Tamagno has come to the conclusion that Albani's voice does not suit him and he flatly declares that he will not sing with her. As Tamagno is by long odds the prize of Abbey's season, and is, moreover, a very independent fellow to deal with, the astute American impressario will doubtless find some way out of the difficulty without offending him. In any event he has both Nordica and Valda to call upon in the Patti 'off' nights."

It is interesting to hear Mme. Modjeska talk of her California ranch life. She enjoys it immensely, and it must be particularly enjoyable in contrast with her first experiment at ranching in the West. Then her husband, Count Bozenta, tilled the soil like any laboring man, but not to as much profit, while the great actress did the housework and milked the cows. The Count tried to relieve her of the milking, but the cows objected. Any one familiar with the Count's impulsive manner will not blame the cows. Those were hard times, and, while the life may have been picturesque, it was not altogether pleasant. That on the present ranch is quite another thing. There is a lovely house, designed by Stanford White, plenty of servants, well-filled stables, and just enough excitement about the crops to make it interesting. Mme Modjeska gives her special attention to the Durham cows and the bees. She is up every morning at 6 o'clock and out inspecting her stock after a breakfast of coffee and rolls. She is perfectly enchanted with her life, and, although she is fifty miles from the nearest railway town, she doesn't know what it is to be lonely, for the house is always filled with guests. And yet notwithstanding the fascination of ranch life, when she scents the battle afar, she longs to be leading the charge. I don't believe that it is possible for an actor or an actress to voluntarily drop from the ranks, and I believe that their constant work and their delight in it is what keeps them young. Look at Joseph Jefferson; in years he is a veteran of the stage, but who that has seen him as Rip or Bob Acres within the last year would dream of calling him an old man? I think that it is Mme. Modjeska's plan to do somewhat as Jefferson does, to act for a few months in the winter, and then take complete rest from stage duties, and nowhere could she find this more absolute than on her California ranch.—[Letter in Boston Transcript.

Margaret Mather will play in Los Angeles, Romeo and Juliet, The Honeymoon, As You Like It and Macbeth. The following are in her company: J. B. Studley, Charles Welles, F. L. Sylvester, Harry Eytinge, Percy Sage, Harry Hanscombe, Eugene Jepson, G. V. De Vere, J. E. McGregor, Frank Rich, Essie Little, Lizz'e Goode, Mary L. Berrell.

Next Wednesday evening Evans & Hoey begin an engagement at the Grand Opera House, for four nights and Saturday matinee, presenting their popular comedy, A Parlor Match, which has gained for them a reputation throughout the country, Chas. E. Evans and Wm. Hoey are the stars of this farce-comedy, and one secret of their success lies in the fact that instead of going around season after season with the same old songs and specialties, they manage to invent something new. The ground work of the piece is the same, but they never allow an opportunity to slip by for improving it. Theater goers are not long in discovering that fact, and when the Parlor Match is announced they expect to see something new, and they never suffer disappointment. Mr. Evans still plays his old part of the book agent, and Mr. Hoey sticks to his character of the tramp. Both roles have been improved upon since last seen here, and the stage is seldom without one of them. Their very appearance is enough to set the house in a roar. Miss Minnie French, the "Innocent Kidd," as usual, is the brightest and the merriest little soubrette on the stage today. The new features introduced into the Parlor Match this season are the great dance by the French twin sisters, taken from the burlesque opera of Faust, which is the reigning success in London at the present time, four beautifully costumed young girls presenting the La Bal Masque, and the famous Olympia Quartette. The music this season is all new. Mr. Hoey's new topical song "Good-bye, Good-bye, Good-bye," will, no doubt, be the hit of the season.

Mr. White's Answer.

EDITORS HERALD—I noticed in your paper of this morning in the communication of Mr. J. Mesmer, a section in the article where he charges the election officials in Precinct B. of the Sixth ward, of taking the chairs "for the anti-sewer bond committee." As one of the judges of the election in that precinct, I would say to Mr. Mesmer that although the tables and chairs were used there, they were used by mistake, and not intentionally taken.

While Mr. Hinton and myself were standing at the door of the room, preparatory to opening the polls, a wagon came by loaded with tables and chairs, and going to the opposite side of the street, appeared to be at a loss where to go, so I called out to him: "Are those chairs and tables for this precinct?" He said they were, and drove over to us and unloaded them. We took them in the room and used them; supposing they were sent to us by the city, and did not discover until nearly noon that they were marked "for the anti-sewer bond committee." Mr. Mesmer is aware of the fact that I was opposed to the election of the sewer bonds and voted against them, as did others of the election officials in Precinct B. of the Sixth ward. Hoping he will not accuse me of dealing unfairly, I am Yours' Respectfully,

C. E. J. WHITE.

Los Angeles, September 1st.

The Nationalists.

The Nationalist Club held its regular meeting in Turn Verein Hall yesterday afternoon. Formerly the meetings were held in the upper hall, but the audiences have increased in number each week, and the club found it necessary to secure who wished to attend. President Peebles opened the exercises. He introduced Mrs. Elizabeth Hughes, who read an interesting paper on "Universal Brotherhood."

Mr. F. E. Peters read his essay on "Man's Primitive Development and His Future." Mrs. Sarah Seal talked on the privileges open to women, and the opportunities afforded them of furthering the work of the club as set forth in "Looking Backward." Mr. Jesse H. Butler was introduced and made a short address.

President Peebles called the attention of the members to the fact that about 225 persons had signed the membership roll, and suggested that the time had arrived for permanent organization. A motion was made and carried that a special meeting be held this evening and that the constitution be presented for adoption.

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 2, 1889.

The Senate Arid Land Committee.

The Committee of the Federal Senate on Arid Lands, which arrived here yesterday morning, is composed of very distinguished men. In the Senate these gentlemen are recognized as leaders in that august body. This is the second Senate committee to visit this section during the current year. The committee on Pacific railroads in their relations with the Canadian road and the Interstate Commerce law, incidentally visited Los Angeles and inspected the harbor at San Pedro. In that instance and in this, the Senators have freely expressed their astonishment at what they saw here in the way of development in the present and of promise for the future. It cannot fail to redound to the benefit of this Coast, of this State and of this section to be seen in so minute, albeit so brief a manner by men of the position in the councils of the Nation occupied by those on these committees. Their large experience in national affairs and their deep penetration and quick perceptive faculties will reveal much in a single glance. They all will go back deeply impressed with a sense of the great importance of these great commonwealths, these empires growing up by the sunset seas.

For many years this State has been pouring untold millions of money into the lap of the whole Nation. It has been California's gold and silver, and Nevada's silver and gold that have made possible the gigantic enterprises of the East in the past forty years, and it has been these Pactolean streams that have made possible the Titanic achievements accomplished in the Western States during that period. At present this Coast is [illegible] products of our soils. The grains, the fruits, the wines, the oil, the honey, the innumerable variety of these products and the great value of our crops are the wonder of all lands. And into the National Treasury the Coast has poured many millions of revenue. We have given much and asked little in return. We hope to continue to give, for all time to come, and to give generously and richly. But it is time we asked something in return. Here we are at the gateway of Asia. Here is the great Pacific, with the teeming millions beyond its waters, and the fertile and populous islands that stud its waters. We are brought face to face with the most severe strain of competition in the subsidized railroads and steamship lines of Great Britain in her colony, Canada. It is of vital importance to this Nation that the great importance of this Coast have prompt and ample recognition in Congress. The great trade of the Pacific must not be let slip from our grasp. The prestige of the American name must be fully maintained from Bering Straits to Cape Horn, and from the Golden Gate to China, India and Australia.

But to return to the specific object of this visit from the committee. Senator Stewart's speech, a brief review of which will be found in the local columns of the HERALD, outlines the importance of this in a very luminous manner. He points out the possibilities of reclaiming millions upon millions of land from the condition of a wilderness to that of a paradise. Here the Senators will be able to see the rich results of irrigation. In their journeys to San Pedro and Santa Monica they have seen some of the fruits of water applied to the soil artificially. They will see more of it in other parts of the county. They will see orchards, a sea of living green, where a Sahara existed prior to the application of water for irrigation. As the distinguished Senator from Nevada says, by irrigation an acre of land becomes worth five or ten acres of the best land in the world which depends solely on rainfall for its watering.

Senator Stewart is most eminently correct in his call for a Pacific Coast Congress to take up and discuss, and formulate laws for irrigation. Congressman Morrow supplements this idea by the suggestion of a closer union on the part of the States of the Coast on all matters of common interest. The Pacific States are very rapidly becoming a power in the politics, as well as in the economics of the Nation. We have six Senators already and will soon have eight. These will in a few years grow to ten, to a dozen. In the next Senate we shall have ten per cent. of all the votes in that body. In the Lower House we have now eight, and after the next census we will probably have a score. In a combination of these there is power. Heretofore there has been only rivalry, only jealousy, only wrangling on the part of the Pacific States. Hereafter let there be unanimity, let there be perfect accord. The Pacific Coast delegation in either House, acting as a unit, would exert a great deal of influence. We have been too modest heretofore. Our development is rapid, our needs are many, our deserts are not insignificant. Grave Senators this is not vanity. It is facts. You are most heartily welcome here. May you enjoy your visit. May you have time to see how important to the Nation at large is this Coast, this State, this immediate section. And particularly the Southern contingent of this committee is welcome to the home of the HERALD, the only metropolitan paper of Democratic faith in this end of this great State. The distinguished Senator from the great Lone Star State is the exponent of the whole South on this occasion. Knowing on how many occasions the California delegation in Congress has freely voted funds from the Treasury to save the States of his section from a superfluity of aqueous fluid in the overflowing channels of the Father of Waters, he will be glad of an opportunity to do a little for this State in the way of providing our plains with a moderate supply of the same fluid.

IF THERE is to be any excuse for the law forbidding the carrying of concealed weapons, or any reason in the statute, the strongest must be found in the rigid enforcement of the law. As it is in nearly all States in the Union, the statute remains a dead letter on the books. It is seldom that an arrest is made under the law, and still more infrequent is the punishment of the person who violates it. Besides, the power to grant permission to carry a weapon is so loosely exercised that any one can get that leave, and so the law falls to the ground. The Executive who allows any man to carry a weapon should be perfectly sure of the necessity and wisdom of granting such a permit. A good way to enforce this carefulness would be to make the grantor particeps criminis in every overt act committed by the person so privileged. That may be an extreme view to take, but there is merit in it, if closely studied. Here are the negroes in the South; hot blooded, ignorant, led by passion, without moral restraint, and all of them are learning to go armed to the teeth. In a country where they are six to one in majority, this is a very dangerous thing. At a picnic away down South in Dixie yesterday there was a very interesting little episode when a train full of darkies began turning in their leaden pepper boxes on the crowd. The man who carries a weapon is usually the man who should not be allowed to do so; and the peaceable, self-possessed man who might be trusted not to use the weapon wantonly is always unarmed and a prey to the tough, the blackguard, the hoodlum, the thief and the killer. The law ought to be repealed or enforced.

A LONDON paper is of the opinion that the United States has no exclusive title to Bering sea for the reason that Russia had no such title to convey. Our English friends will be obliged to do some [illegible] always claimed, asserted and maintained the very rights we are now contending for, and that we are her successors and assigns. It is the duty of this Government to maintain all our rights in Alaskan waters. The seals are not fish, they are animals. They are born on American soil, and are ours wherever they roam. While in Alaskan waters they certainly are not trespassing on British possessions, and the people of Great Britain have no right to hunt or molest them wherever found. Blackstone long ago laid down the rule that doves from a man's cote were his property although they might fly fifty miles from home. Rabbits from a warren could not be shot even while trespassing on the lands of a neighbor. That is a principle of law we must maintain in reference to seals. Indeed, it would seem as if our Government owed it to the people of this Nation to go further, and maintain our right to all sorts of fishing in the waters of Alaska. Ships of other nations may be allowed to pass through those waters on their way to the Arctic seas, but all property in the Alaskan sea proper is ours. The sea is not a great international highway. It is not necessary to the commerce of the world. It is a closed sea to all proper intents and purposes. Foreign war ships ought to be excluded from those waters.

THE tightness of the money markets at the East is a phenomenal matter. In the spring, money in Paris, London, New York, Chicago and San Francisco was cheaper than it had been in many years. Today it is dearer than for years before. In New York money is quoted at 6 per cent. The Treasury has done a little to relieve this stringency by the purchase of bonds. But the ability of the Treasury is limited. The surplus at the end of July amounted to only about $71,000,000. Of this $18,000,000 must be held to pay September pensions. The repository banks all over the country hold $42,000,000, and the recent purchases were to the amount of $11,000,000, and there your available surplus is all gone, just six months after the Republican party came into power. That party never lets a surplus bother it. In the year from August, 1888, to the present month the Government purchased $77,305,350 in 4 per cent. bonds, $118,185,350 in 4½ per cent. bonds, or a total of $195,490,700 of the National debt. The purchases of bonds under all the rest of the Harrison administration will not come to half that sum.

TODAY the HERALD presents a second paper of the fur seal. This treats briefly on the habits of the seal, and will make plain how easy it is to extirpate the animal at any given point. The seal is timid as a result of helplessness. He neither has power to fight nor fly, to ward off attack nor to escape it. Indiscriminate slaughter must everywhere result, as in the south seas, in the total distruction of this animal. If this valuable industry is to exist and be of any benefit to man, it must be under a very strict police supervision, and the United States is the one nation which can exercise this control over seal hunting, for the reason that the only large breeding place left on the globe is in our territory. Unless protected as at present, in less than three years there would not be a seal on the Pribylov islands.

THAT old idea of the Mosaic code, expressed in "an eye for an eye, and a tooth for a tooth," and also in the dictum of the same code that "he that sheddeth man's blood, by man shall his blood be shed," is very deeply imbedded in the human mind. The extreme humanitarians of the present day try hard to eliminate this principle from our laws, but they do not meet with very great success. Capital punishment has been taken out of the laws of Michigan, and here is a howling mob of passionate people trying to get the captive stage robber and swing him into the hereafter from a limb of a tree, and on the stern rulings of that most obdurate of judges, yclept Lynch. It is always so in States where judicial hanging is considered a piece of barbarity.

THE London strike is assuming a very formidable aspect, and is becoming of international significance. This matter of the proper relations of labor to capital under the new conditions of this time, is in a very chaotic condition. It will take much patience and the very highest exercise of human wisdom to adjust the elements of strife between these two forces of life.

DEMOCRATS in the new district should all get to the polls tomorrow and cast one big, straight vote for C. R. Patterson, the party nominee for the place. He is a man in all respects fitted to fill the seat in the board, and he will look closely after all the interests of the people of his district. Let him be elected.

BONDS VS. LABOR.

Judge Gresham Decides an Important Railroad Case.

CHICAGO, September 1.—Last Saturday Judge Gresham rendered a decision in the case of the receivership of the Indianapolis, Decatur and Western railway. The case has attracted much attention, because the receiver, after his appointment, devoted the surplus earnings to the payment of the interest on the first mortgage bonds, leaving labor and supply claims to the amount of $6,000 unpaid. It appearing that the receiver had been asked to maintain the interests of the bond holders to the disadvantage of the claims for labor, the order of appointment was set aside. Certain recommendations or suggestions were then made by the Court and continued with leave to complainants to amend their bill. The suggestions were not acted upon, and the Court, holding that the receiver had been made the defendant for the express purpose of creating jurisdiction, Judge Gresham has now thrown the case out of court. The decision is a long one but is formal in character, and interest lies wholly in the result reached and its value as a precedent.

The Employing Classes Cautioned to Provide a Safety-valve.

CHICAGO, September 1.—The Chicago Trades Assembly today adopted resolutions declaring that the wonderful rapidity with which the great strikes in London spread from the dock laborers to other occupations in no wise connected therewith, and the active interest, sympathy and cooperation of great masses of the people in that city, together with the tendered and active help of workers in the industrial centers of Great Britain, Europe, America and Australia, marks a creation in the minds and hearts of the workers of one common and vital interest, that makes practical and very probable a simultaneous uprising of the great masses of angry workers whose will seems to endanger the existing social and industrial institutions and emphasizes immediate necessity for the employing classes to concede such reasonable reforms as will remove the possibility of a revolution that threatens such terrible results to life and property.

THE CRONIN CASE.

Farmers Summoned to do Service as Jurors.

CHICAGO, September 1.—Fifty farmers will march into Judge McConnell's court tomorrow morning as candidates for jury duty in the trial of the Cronin suspects. A special venire for them was issued without the knowledge of the attorneys for the defense. Judge McConnell yesterday quietly issued the venire and had Sheriff Matson dispatch county bailiffs in search of the jurymen. The fifty who were summoned live on farms and in remote suburban vallages of the county. By tomorrow night it is expected that some of them will have been accepted as jurymen or the defense will have made a big hole in the ninety-six peremptory challenges it still has in its power to make.

Destructive Prairie Fire.

LAC QUE-PARLE, Minn., September 1.—A prairie fire ten miles wide is sweeping the Minnesota bottom lands, and the town of Big Stone City is threatened with destruction, the flames having reached a point two miles west of there. Hundreds of farmers have lost all their hay and stock, and the fire, which was started two days ago by a party of hunters, is beyond control.

The Railroaders' Petition.

WASHINGTON, September 1.—A petition signed by 9,682 conductors, switchmen, brakemen, etc., has been sent to the Interstate Commerce Commission, requesting that body to take such steps as they deem proper to bring about the adoption of automatic brakes and couplers on freight cars on the railroads in the United States, and urge upon Congress the necessity of national legislation in this matter.

The Week's Clearances.

BOSTON, September 1.—A table compiled from dispatches from the managers of the leading clearing houses in the United States and Canada, shows that the total gross exchanges for the week ending August 31 were $958,421,333, an increase of 18.2 per cent. as compared with the corresponding week of last year.

Shooting Affray in Kansas.

EDWARDSVILLE, Kansas, September 1.—A shooting affray occurred here this morning between negroes, in which Bill Butler shot Charles Brown and an unknown colored man. Both were dangerously wounded.

A REIGN OF TERROR.

Bloodshed in Many Parts of the Country.

RACE WARS IN THE SOUTH.

Bloody Riot in Louisiana—Negro Uprisings in Mississippi and West Virginia.

[Associated Press dispatches to the HERALD.]

NEW ORLEANS, September 1.—This morning, between 2 and 3 o'clock, an excursion train loaded with colored people arrived at Gouldsboro from Baton Rouge. A large number of colored people were at the depot waiting for it. As the train neared the depot one of the excursionists, in jumping of, fell. Some unknown person shouted, "Look at the black ——— ———." The negro drew a pistol and fired four or five shots in rapid succession, one of which struck a white man named William Miller. Then the shooting became general, some four or five hundred shots being fired inside of fifteen minutes. This account of the affair is given by the police force of Gretna.

A TERRIBLE PANIC

Ensued, women and children running in all directions shouting and screaming. Ed Levy (colored), living in Algiers, was shot in the left arm, and a colored woman, named Fleming, was fatally shot.

Some of the passengers who were interviewed today stated that when the train was nearing Gouldsboro depot it was fired on by men secreted along the line of the railroad, and that as soon as the train stopped a general stampede took place. It is very difficult to locate a single person who witnessed the beginning of the shooting, outside of the police of Gretna.

Ben Watkins (colored), residing in Gouldsboro, was shot while lying in bed at his home after the general affray, by some unknown person who fired through the window. He was seriously wounded.

NEGRO CHURCH BURNED.

About 4 o'clock this morning a light was seen in the sky between Algiers and Jefferson parishes. The Algiers fire department went to the scene and found a large number of men armed with muskets and a negro church on fire. There was no help at hand and the edifice was destroyed.

Algiers, Freetown, Gouldsboro and Gretna are small towns close together, situated directly across the river, and virtually suburbs of New Orleans.

CONFLICTING STORIES.

LATER.—To the list of casualties is added tonight the name of Mary Carroll, colored, who was painfully wounded. The stories of the row and its origin differ very widely. The negroes say that before the arrival of the train there was a large force of armed white men in the vicinity of the depot, who opened fire on the colored people while the excursionists were getting off. The white men's version of the affair, of course, is entirely different. They state that there were only some half dozen concerned, and that the shooting was commenced by the negroes before the train had stopped. Two shots were fired and then William Miller was shot in the face by a negro in getting off the train. A police officer, brother of the wounded man, attempted to arrest the shooter, when the negroes opened fire and the affray became general. The whites about Gouldsboro declined to talk about the riot.

A RACE WAR IN MISSISSIPPI.

The Times-Democrat's Grenada, Miss., special says: A telegram was received here this morning saying that negroes were massing men near Shell Mound, Le Flore county, Miss., and a conflict between whites and blacks was expected. Help was called for, as the negroes outnumbered the whites six to one. A volunteer company of about forty men was raised here in an hour or two and left on the 12:15 train for the scene of the trouble, under the command of J. C. Longstreet. A company of cavalry will leave here tonight. A dispatch received from J. C. Longstreet and C. L. Townes asks us to send all the available men through the county at once. By order of the Governor, the Winona Rifles, accompanied by several citizens, left on a special train at 2 p.m. today for Greenwood, from which place they will go to Shell Mound to aid in suppressing the trouble.

The Picayune's Greenwood special says: There has been for the last month a negro by the name of Cromwell who has been organizing, as it was thought, alliances in this part of the Delta. Wednesday of this week a number of negroes belonging to the alliance movement, withdrew, as they claimed he was an ex-convict. A majority of the Negroes' Alliance voted in favor of Cromwell. The next day Cromwell received a letter ordering him to leave the country. He showed the letter to the negroes and the same evening the whites at Shell Mound received a warning letter from parties of negroes, who signed themselves

"THREE THOUSAND ARMED MEN,"

Who said that they proposed to stand by Cromwell, and that if any efforts were made to disturb him they would kill, burn and destroy Shell Mound. About seventy-five armed negroes came into town and talked in a very loud and threatening manner. Last night the Sheriff received information from Sunnyside, fifteen miles above Shell Mound, that there were 500 armed men who were massed in Johnsonfield, near there, and help was needed. He wired the Governor the situation and asked for troops, which was responded to by Governor Lowry in person, bringing with him five companies of militia. Governor Lowry has sent two companies to Sunnyside to report to the Sheriff, who went up there this morning to see if he could do anything with the negroes. The steamboat running between here and Sharkey has just come in, bringing a number of women and children. There have been several reports from the scene of the trouble this evening, one of which was that the negroes had left the vicinity of Sunnyside, breaking up into small bands of twenty or thirty, and seemed to be sulky and mad.

NEGRO UPRISING IN WEST VIRGINIA.

PITTSBURG, Pa., September 1.—A special from Wheeling, W. Va., says: There is a good deal of anxiety over the news of a threatened race war at the New River valley, Fayette county. Information from the scene of the threatened trouble is meagre, but is of such a nature as to give rise to fears that a serious breach of the peace will occur. The trouble had its origin Friday evening when a negro went into the store of Beary, Cooper & Co., at Echo, and, brandishing a club, threatened to do up the entire force of employees. All efforts to pacify him were futile, and one of the clerks, after receiving a bad blow from his club, shot the negro, killing him instantly. Echo is the center of a considerable colored population, and last night information was received at Charleston that a mob of negroes had collected on New river, and that a concerted onslaught on the whites was in contemplation. Orders were also received by Charleston hardware stores for all the Winchester rifles available, and a considerable shipment of these arms was made. The citizens of Charleston are also gathering arms, and it was apprehended the military would be ordered out. Nothing additional has been heard up to 10 o'clock tonight.

THE GOGEBIC ROBBER.

No Law to Hang Him but a Mob Ready to Do the Job.

MARQUETTE, Mich., September 1.—Holzhay, the Gogebic stage robber, was taken south by the Gogebic Sheriff on a train this afternoon. The prisoner was defiant and his demeanor showed him to be ready for any desperate deed. It is expected that if he is not very closely guarded he will make a determined attempt to escape. A great crowd congregated at the depot to see the noted bandit. Holzhay did not relish their scrutiny and remarked to the officer with him: "If I had my guns and was free they wouldn't be so anxious to get close to me."

To the officers who guarded him last night, Holzhay admitted that he was the man who went through a Milwaukee and Northern train, near Ellis Junction, last May, and afterwards held up the passengers on a Wisconsin Central train, and robbed several stage coaches in Northern Wisconsin, besides committing many minor depredations.

The driver of the Gogebic stage last week, was brought here today by the Sheriff and immediately identified Holzhay as the man who did the job.

HIS ONLY REGRET.

The only regret Holzhay expresses in connection with all his criminal career is that the two officers at Republic effected his capture so easily. He says he was determined not to be taken alive, and had he the slightest inkling of their purpose when they were approaching him, he would have shot both down unhesitatingly. The proof against the man without his admissions to the officers is complete, and unless he escapes from the officials or succeeds in suiciding, he is booked for a life term in the State Prison. Capital punishment was abolished in Michigan a number of years ago.

A MOB READY TO LYNCH HIM.

BESSEMER, Mich., September 1.—Sheriff Foley is expected to arrive from Marquette, between 1 and 2 o'clock in the morning, with the train robber, Holzhay. The streets and saloons are crowded tonight, and there is much talk of lynching him before the stage, which meets the train at North Bessemer, reaches the city. The crowd contains many who have being drinking heavily through the day and feel very ugly. No one will go to bed until the prisoner is either safe in the County Jail or else dangling from some convenient bough in the forest.

SAFELY JAILED.

MARQUETTE, Michigan, September 2.—A dispatch from Bessemer says: The highwayman under the escort of Sheriff Foley, reached North Bessemer at 12:55 a. m. They took the stage there and proceeding to Bessemer, arrived at that [illegible] ment was [illegible].

A CATTLEMAN FLEECED.

How He Dropped His Little Wad to a Professional Gambler.

KANSAS CITY, September 1.—The Chief of Police wants Bud Guion, of Chicago. Guion is a gambler. He came here a week ago and registered at one of the prominent hotels, giving it out that he was a cattle buyer from New York. Cornelius C. Quinlan, one of the most prominent sellers of cattle in the Southwest, with headquarters in this city, was stopping at the same hotel and cultivated the acquaintance of Guion. Their acquaintance ripened into intimacy. Guion proposed a little game of poker. Quinlan is something of a poker player himself. They went to Guion's room. Among the furniture there was a handsome inlaid table, a present, so Mr. Guion described it, that he prized very highly. The poker game was played on this table. The first night Mr. Quinlan lost his ready cash. The next night he went "heeled" with $13,000 in cash. He went away without it. The next night $4,000 in cash was won by Mr. Guion, together with a like amount in promissory notes, his watch and chain, two diamond studs and a ring. The Kansas City man became suspicious and the next morning notified the police that he had been swindled, but Mr. Guion had fled, and now it is alleged that the inlaid table assisted him in a marked degree in winning some twenty odd thousand dollars from Quinlain.

LIVELY SHOOTING AFFRAY.

Rocky Mountain Worthies Fight With Winchesters.

ROCKY FORD, Col., September 1.—A shooting affray occurred at this place last night between Cattle Inspector Joe Wyatt, United States Marshal Maxwell of Pueblo, John Miller and others, in which Miller received two wounds, one of which broke his right leg, the other wound being received in the groin. A ball fired from a Winchester by Miller after he had fallen, cut the skin of Wyatt's neck. Ike Freshour, though no way connected with the fight, was seriously wounded in the left shoulder. The Miller boys are all residents of La Junta. An old feud has long existed between them and Inspector Wyatt. The trouble culminated over a suit brought from La Junta before Justice Gobit, against George Hall, colored. All the parties concerned were arrested by the local authorities and placed under bonds of $1,000 each. About forty shots were fired.

Shooting in Indian Territory.

KANSAS CITY, September 1.—The Times special from Vinta, Indian Territory, says: A shooting affray yesterday at Table Springs resulted in the death of two men named Moriana and Given. Given had accused Moriana and a man named Pixley of horse-stealing. In the quarrel which ensued, Given and Moriana drew revolvers and fired until both had fallen. Pixley pounded Given's brains out with a hammer. Moriana died shortly after.

Murderers Treed.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., September 1.—The two burglars who killed John Lawrence at Montevallo on Friday night when Lawrence discovered them in the act of robbing his uncle's store, were both captured yesterday. One of them confessed this morning. When found they were up a tree within fifty feet of where the murder was committed.

MASS MEETING IN HYDE PARK.

Noted Churchmen Sympathize with the Strike Movement—News from Samoa.

[Associated Press Dispatches to the HERALD.]

LONDON, September 1.—Two thousand coalheavers and bargemen employed by Parker & Lambert have joined the strikers. The Council of Strikers held a meeting last evening, and, after a long discussion on the situation, decided to continue the strike. A monster meeting of strikers was held in Hyde Park this afternoon. Mr. Burns, the socialist agitator and other labor leaders made speeches. Resolutions declaring that the men would continue to strike until their demands were fully conceded were unanimously adopted. The enormous crowd dispersed in an orderly manner.

Cardinal Manning sent a message to Hyde Park to request Mr. Burns to visit him. In compliance with the invitation Burns called upon the Cardinal after the meeting, when His Eminence expressed admiration at the excellent order maintained, and congratulated Burns upon the general good behavior of the strikers.

A mass meeting of dockmen and others was held at Southwark, at which the project was mooted to form a separate committee for South London, in order to have a better voice in the conduct of the strike. Mr. Quelch, as leader of the Social Democratic Federation, denounced the manifesto calling for a general strike; but for that he believes the dock directors would have yielded to the strikers' demands.

Canon Liddon, of St. Paul's, has subscribed to the relief fund. In a sermon at York today, Canon Fleming expressed sympathy with the strikers.

It is estimated that 15,000 persons took part in the demonstration at Hyde Park. During the progress of the meeting Burns and others passed through the crowd and took up a collection for the benefit of the strikers. Money was received in hats and open parasols, and a large sum was obtained. An American gentleman who was present gave a handsome donation. In an interview Burns said the strike committee had decided not to have a procession tomorrow. They propose to devote the day to real work, especially to improving the methods of collecting funds.

Five thousand railway men held a meeting at Darlington today and decided to strike unless shorter hours of labor were granted.

FROM SAMOA.

Admiral Kimberly Banqueted—Malietoa's Distrust.

APIA, Samoa, August 15.—A banquet was given last night to Admiral Kimberly and his two staff officers, Lieutenants Rittenhouse and Merriam, by the American and English residents of Apia. Speeches were made by the Admiral, Lieutenant Rittenhouse and others. Admiral Kimberly thanked the people of Apia for their kindness to him during the hurricane last night. The chiefs Manga and Asi, who with Malietoa have returned from exile on the Marshall islands, state that when Malietoa was taken on board the gunboat Wolf at Jaluit to be returned to Samoa, he thought the Germans were going to take him back to the Cameroons, and jumped overboard, but was afterward rescued.

Mexican Matters.

CITY OF MEXICO (via Galveston), September 1.—Repeated trials of Krupp Cannon before the President and Army Board gave very satisfactory results.

A new bank will soon be established in Chiapao.

A company here proposes to bring Irish colonists to Mexico to people the lands, and the negro emigration scheme meets with little chance of success in the Southern Mexican States. The Mexicans have no faith in it.

The Peace of Sedan.

BERLIN, September 1.—The anniversary of the battle of Sedan was observed here by a public meeting and grand pyrotechnical display. Herr Stocker, Court Chaplain, delivered an oration. The National Zeitung, commenting on the anniversary, observes that peace has been prolonged beyond expectation, but that the cost of armed peace is enormous. Other papers review the history of Germany since the Franco-Prussian war.

Annexation Refused.

PARIS, September 1.—The French Government has declined to accede to the request of the people of New Hebrides for the annexation of the islands by France. The refusal is based on the ground that France does not wish to infringe upon her convention with England relative to the New Hebrides.

The Bering Sea Controversy.

LONDON, September 1.—The Observer, commenting on the Bering sea question, says: An American company could not buy what Russia had not to sell, namely the right of exclusive property in Bering sea. A most unanswerable protest against Russia's claim to the Bering sea was issued by President Pierce's administration.

Government Telephones.

PARIS, September 1.—In accordance with the law recently passed, the Government today took formal possession of the telephone stations. The company protested against the Government's action as illegal, and only submitted to force.

Boulanger Will Submit to Arrest.

PARIS, September 1.—The "Nineteenth Century" announces that Boulanger has decided to submit to arrest a week preceding the elections, in order to avoid seizure before his arrival in Paris.

Indignant Sealers.

VICTORIA, B. C., September 1.—An indignation meeting of citizens was held last night by parties interested in the sealing industry. A resolution was passed asking for compensation for vessels already seized and for a speedy settlement of the difficulty.

A Lost Schooner.

SAN FRANCISCO, September 1.—The steamer Zealandia, from Australia, brought news of the loss of the schooner Jennie Walker, which went ashore on one of the Gilbert islands last April. The crew escaped in boats to Jaluit island. The vessel and cargo are a total loss.

NEW YORK, September 1.—Otto Kuber, the well-known brewer, died in Brooklyn today.

SPORT AND ADVENTURE.

Graham Goes Over Niagara in a Barrel.

THE FEAT SAFELY ACCOMPLISHED

San Francisco and Oakland Play Good Ball—An Aeronaut's Thrilling Experience.

[Associated Press Dispatches to the HERALD.]

NIAGARA FALLS, September 1.—Last Sunday afternoon Carlisle D. Graham made a successful trip through the Whirlpool rapids, the Mælstrom and Foster's Flats, that was preparatory to his effort today to pass over the falls, which, according to Graham himself and a few eye-witnesses, was accomplished in safety. The same barrel was used. At 6 o'clock this morning it was towed out into the river by two friends of Graham, and at 6:45 it was let go at a point opposite Chippewa creek. Down the current it swept, plunging over the reefs, often out of sight, till at 7:10 it approached the brink and dropped 200 feet into the abyss below.

The barrel soon rose, intact, and was descried in an eddy. Elmer Jones swam out from the Canadian shore, caught hold of a rope attached to the barrel, and towed it in shore, where just at 7:25 a.m. Graham was lifted out by Jones and Cahill, and was quickly brought, more dead than alive, to Hore's saloon, on this side. Graham himself says: "The first thing I knew was when someone struck the barrel and said, 'Graham, are you alive?'"

He complained of terrible pains in the back and head, from the rocking he had received, and could talk but incoherently. About a dozen people verify the statement that Graham was in the barrel, and many more will say they saw the barrel go over.

BASEBALL.

The San Francisco Boys Do Some Errorless Playing.

STOCKTON, September 1.—The San Franciscos put up an errorless game this afternoon, and banged the leather all over, defeating the champions by a score of 15 to 4.

Harper pitched three innings, but had no control of the ball, and was relieved by Hunolt. In the first Frisco made three runs on a double, passed ball, single wild pitch and an error. In the third, Levy's triple, three singles, two wild pitches and two wild throws give the 'Friscos five runs. In the fourth Eberight retired with a hurt finger, Depaugher taking his place. In the fifth Whitehead's double, Creamer's single and Hunolt's fly out to Levy, who made a circus catch, gave Stockton a run. A two bagger by Perrier and a wild pitch error, base on balls, and a single, gave the Friscos two more runs. In the sixth Stickney's base on balls, a single by Smith and a home run by Dapaugher, gave the Stocktons three earned runs. In the eighth Sheat's home run and numerous singles gave the Friscos five runs.

THE SACRAMENTOS KALSOMINED.

SAN FRANCISCO, September 1.—Oakland [illegible] score of 15 to 0. For six innings the game was a good one, neither side scoring, but after that Sacramento went to pieces. The batteries were: Oakland, Wehrle and Stallings; Sacramento, Zeigle and Lohman. Oakland played a perfect game in the field and batted well, while Sacramento did just the reverse.

MRS. MAYBRICK'S PARAMOUR.

Brierly Comes to America to Escape Notoriety.

BOSTON, September 1.—Albert Brierly, the Liverpool merchant, who has gained world-wide notoriety through his connection with the Maybrick murder, was a cabin passenger on the Cunard steamship Scythia, which arrived at East Boston this morning. To a reporter he said: "I have no statement to make. When I left England I told all there was to say. I came to America to escape notoriety, and do not want to figure in the daily journals."

He said he heard of Mrs. Maybrick's reprieve at Queenstown.

"Is it true that you paid costs of the trial, amounting to £6,500?"

"Yes," he answered, "that was the sum."

"Do you care to say anything regarding your relations with Mrs. Maybrick?"

"Nothing more than I have already said. All I can say is that I have figured more prominently in the case in print than any real connection with it warranted. Besides this I have nothing to say as to where I am going in Boston or after I leave there. I have nothing to say regarding anything and you will oblige me by bringing your questions to a close."

He then went below, refusing to talk further. After leaving the steamer all trace of him was lost.

A Thrilling Adventure.

LONDON, September 1.—An exciting scene was witnessed at an exhibition by Miss Beaumont, an aeronaut, at North Shields yesterday. In descending from her balloon with a parachute, the woman got caught by a lightning conductor, from which she hung suspended by one arm, far above the ground. There was a great crowd of spectators, and the excitement was intense. Ladders were brought as quickly as possible, and by their aid the daring aeronaut made a safe descent.

About one thousand dollars was found on the robber.

CINNOBAR, Mont., September 1.—The town of Gardiner on the edge of the National Park was entirely destroyed by fire yesterday. Only one house was saved out of about thirty. Many families lost everything. They slept out of doors last night. The fire originated in a saloon, and the wind was high, completely sweeping the town. FASHION POINTS.

Coming Season.

Stuart frills of costly lace falling over the corsage are worn on many bodices slightly open in the neck.

In new autumn gowns there will be less use made of goods in combination than of handsome colors richly bordered.

Some of the finest patterns in furs for the coming winter are made to fit the figure even more closely than those of a year ago. The cumbersome quilted satin linings are frequently dispensed with, and a heavy quality of silk is substituted, with but little wadding beneath it.

The Spanish mantle is worn with dressy toilets of every description. This model, which has proved so popular this season, was originally copied from one of real Spanish lace, designed for the Princess of Wales. It consists of a slightly pointed shoulder cape, with wide, black lace collar and very long scarf ends that cross at the belt and cover the front of the dress skirt to the hem.

Very handsome ladies' cloth, with new and attractive borderings, and soft English serges and cheviots are greatly used in the formation of stylish promenade and visiting gowns. Many beautiful dyes have been added to the standard shades, red gold, russet deeply tinged with orange amaranth, and dahlia reds, peach color, linden green and oak heart being among the novel colors in all-wool fabrics.

A charming dancing toilet for a young girl is made of misty blue gauze over a low-necked bodice, and full skirt of pale blue China silk, the gauze draperies, in delicious folds, kept in place by clusters of creamy marguerites with yellow hearts. An epaulet of the same flowers is set on the right shoulder of the bodice, whose sleeves are cut baby fashion. Another in similar style is made in pure white gauze and surah, with milk-white roses and foliage for garniture.

The greater number of the new bridal gowns and toilets for bridesmaids are tailor-made and are extremely elegant. Embroidery, pearl gimp and rich laces are used upon these gowns, the arrangement being artistic and novel. Skilled modistes now handle the so-called tailor-gowns of every description with great dexterity, and cloth is as effectively manipulated by them as silk or velvet, and is made up with a neat perfection which it would be difficult for a tailor to surpass.

Pretty and comparatively inexpensive tea-jackets are made of crepon or cashmere, with guipure lace fronts. The tints chosen generally run in the pale gray, beige, biscuit and the light almond tones for the woollen, the lace being cream. These jackets are made tight fitting behind, and with a full chemisette the lace fronts—sewn into the shoulder and side seams—fall over without concealing the chemisette, which is drawn into the waist by means of two cords of ribbon fastened at the sides and knotted in front.

Vividness of color, light tints and striking effects constantly grow in favor. It was noted this spring that brighter-colored dresses were worn on the streets than had been seen there for twenty years, and the tendency all summer has been further in the same direction rather than any relapse into soberer shades. The same story comes from Paris, and Americans returning from the Exposition tell that everywhere in France there is a perfect riot of color. Pale and brilliant hues, heaps of flowers, diaphanous materials and gold embroideries are seen everywhere.

Faced cloths for next season's tailor gowns will be trimmed with fur bands and with much braiding set on the foot of the skirt in upturned points, or in one or two much larger points, called Tour Eiffel designs, because they are broad at the base and grow slender at the top, which reaches more than half-way up the skirt; this trimming is directly in front, or it may be on both sides of the skirt. On the waist the braiding comes from the sides, beginning just under the arms, or it simulates a round yoke, or is in Vandyck points from the collar down, with also a girdle.

A novelty among long wraps, called the Ursuline cloak, is a conventional garment similar to those worn by nuns. It covers the wearer from throat to foot, has a hood and nuns' sleeves, and a cord as thick as a rope, like a friar's girdle, tied around the waist. It is made of thick, soft camel's-hair cloth, in dark carmelite brown shades, and is lined with thick silk. The girdle is wool cord, and the garment is entirely without trimming. Other long cloaks are of Broche cloth, figured all over, or of the new bordered cloths with broad stripes at the foot, or with corner pieces in stripes down the front and across the foot, while still others are of the soutache cloth woven to represent braiding in all-over designs.

Terra-cotta is a fashionable color for silk and velvet mantelets, as well as for cloth jackets. The cloth is often trimmed with a beaded edging or fringe of black silk gimp, jet being reserved for the silken fabrics. Long cloaks and pelisses of a more sober description than the ducal garments just hinted at are sometimes made with double sleeves, the under pair almost tight fitting; yet the long, straight sleeves falling to the hem of the cloak are still maintained, and upon them are lavished the braiding or what-not which forms the trimming, the ends being left comparatively plain. The full cloaks gathered or plaited into the figure at the back only, such as now worn in shot silk, are reproduced in woollen stuffs for autumn—now they are mounted on a braided yoke, at other times they are shaped to the shoulder by means of gathers and a short, round cape is added.

Some of the new "art" sleeves are so odd in style as to approach the grotesque. Many of the shapes are becoming only to women of medium build. Shirred, puffed, smocked and plaited sleeves are seen everywhere, and these are shaped in endless ways, some being puffed from the shoulder to the elbow while others are closely gathered into a tight cuff. There are large balloon-like puffs strapped or banded at intervals with wide ribbon. These are not pretty but they are fashionable. Others again have a puff on the shoulders, with a plain, close sleeve below, finished with a deep Cromwellian cuff at the wrist. Numberless combinations are made with these various elements. Bands of white and gold galloon are passed down the outside of the arm through full perpendicular puffs that spread out at each side. Close coat sleeves are very much trimmed at the upper arm near the shoulder, either with caps, braids or chevrons, or gimp-edged points and silk cord arabesques in fanciful devices; while on some of the new "art" toilets the open, flowing sleeve of our grandmothers' time again appears, worn with an embroidered undersleeve, as of old.

Ostrich feathers—straw-color and black, and of light tints shaded off to dark—wings and ribbons are the favorite decorations for smart hats, whether the foundations be straw, velvet or felt, the last of which is likely to come into wear early this season. Milliners combine colors freely, and yellow and green velvet ribbons are introduced into mixtures [illegible] Very pretty hats are made of puréu tulle, more often black, yellow or scarlet, and trimmed with black and colored wings. The same things are used for bonnets, though the most conspicuous novelty in the way of trimming is the new jet in the form of sprays, coronets, bands, stars and so on, of which the marchands de nouveautes show a large assortment. Set among billowy tulle or combined with velvet, China crape, or any other of the fashionable materials, they have a very pretty effect. Milliners are doing a great deal this season with terra-cotta shades and other reddish browns. Green is almost as fashionable as ever, especially in very pale shades and deep emerald tones. At the same time there is a decided leaning toward heliotrope and the particular shades of vieux rose that lead up to it.

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 2, 1889.

The Senate Arid Land Committee.

The Committee of the Federal Senate on Arid Lands, which arrived here yesterday morning, is composed of very distinguished men. In the Senate these gentlemen are recognized as leaders in that august body. This is the second Senate committee to visit this section during the current year. The committee on Pacific railroads in their relations with the Canadian road and the Interstate Commerce law, incidentally visited Los Angeles and inspected the harbor at San Pedro. In that instance and in this, the Senators have freely expressed their astonishment at what they saw here in the way of development in the present and of promise for the future. It cannot fail to redound to the benefit of this Coast, of this State and of this section to be seen in so minute, albeit so brief a manner by men of the position in the councils of the Nation occupied by those on these committees. Their large experience in national affairs and their deep penetration and quick perceptive faculties will reveal much in a single glance. They all will go back deeply impressed with a sense of the great importance of these great commonwealths, these empires growing up by the sunset seas.

For many years this State has been pouring untold millions of money into the lap of the whole Nation. It has been California's gold and silver, and Nevada's silver and gold that have made possible the gigantic enterprises of the East in the past forty years, and it has been these Pactolean streams that have made possible the Titanic achievements accomplished in the Western States during that period. At present this Coast is [illegible] products of our soils. The grains, the fruits, the wines, the oil, the honey, the innumerable variety of these products and the great value of our crops are the wonder of all lands. And into the National Treasury the Coast has poured many millions of revenue. We have given much and asked little in return. We hope to continue to give, for all time to come, and to give generously and richly. But it is time we asked something in return. Here we are at the gateway of Asia. Here is the great Pacific, with the teeming millions beyond its waters, and the fertile and populous islands that stud its waters. We are brought face to face with the most severe strain of competition in the subsidized railroads and steamship lines of Great Britain in her colony, Canada. It is of vital importance to this Nation that the great importance of this Coast have prompt and ample recognition in Congress. The great trade of the Pacific must not be let slip from our grasp. The prestige of the American name must be fully maintained from Bering Straits to Cape Horn, and from the Golden Gate to China, India and Australia.

But to return to the specific object of this visit from the committee. Senator Stewart's speech, a brief review of which will be found in the local columns of the HERALD, outlines the importance of this in a very luminous manner. He points out the possibilities of reclaiming millions upon millions of land from the condition of a wilderness to that of a paradise. Here the Senators will be able to see the rich results of irrigation. In their journeys to San Pedro and Santa Monica they have seen some of the fruits of water applied to the soil artificially. They will see more of it in other parts of the county. They will see orchards, a sea of living green, where a Sahara existed prior to the application of water for irrigation. As the distinguished Senator from Nevada says, by irrigation an acre of land becomes worth five or ten acres of the best land in the world which depends solely on rainfall for its watering.

Senator Stewart is most eminently correct in his call for a Pacific Coast Congress to take up and discuss, and formulate laws for irrigation. Congressman Morrow supplements this idea by the suggestion of a closer union on the part of the States of the Coast on all matters of common interest. The Pacific States are very rapidly becoming a power in the politics, as well as in the economics of the Nation. We have six Senators already and will soon have eight. These will in a few years grow to ten, to a dozen. In the next Senate we shall have ten per cent. of all the votes in that body. In the Lower House we have now eight, and after the next census we will probably have a score. In a combination of these there is power. Heretofore there has been only rivalry, only jealousy, only wrangling on the part of the Pacific States. Hereafter let there be unanimity, let there be perfect accord. The Pacific Coast delegation in either House, acting as a unit, would exert a great deal of influence. We have been too modest heretofore. Our development is rapid, our needs are many, our deserts are not insignificant. Grave Senators this is not vanity. It is facts. You are most heartily welcome here. May you enjoy your visit. May you have time to see how important to the Nation at large is this Coast, this State, this immediate section. And particularly the Southern contingent of this committee is welcome to the home of the HERALD, the only metropolitan paper of Democratic faith in this end of this great State. The distinguished Senator from the great Lone Star State is the exponent of the whole South on this occasion. Knowing on how many occasions the California delegation in Congress has freely voted funds from the Treasury to save the States of his section from a superfluity of aqueous fluid in the overflowing channels of the Father of Waters, he will be glad of an opportunity to do a little for this State in the way of providing our plains with a moderate supply of the same fluid.

IF THERE is to be any excuse for the law forbidding the carrying of concealed weapons, or any reason in the statute, the strongest must be found in the rigid enforcement of the law. As it is in nearly all States in the Union, the statute remains a dead letter on the books. It is seldom that an arrest is made under the law, and still more infrequent is the punishment of the person who violates it. Besides, the power to grant permission to carry a weapon is so loosely exercised that any one can get that leave, and so the law falls to the ground. The Executive who allows any man to carry a weapon should be perfectly sure of the necessity and wisdom of granting such a permit. A good way to enforce this carefulness would be to make the grantor particeps criminis in every overt act committed by the person so privileged. That may be an extreme view to take, but there is merit in it, if closely studied. Here are the negroes in the South; hot blooded, ignorant, led by passion, without moral restraint, and all of them are learning to go armed to the teeth. In a country where they are six to one in majority, this is a very dangerous thing. At a picnic away down South in Dixie yesterday there was a very interesting little episode when a train full of darkies began turning in their leaden pepper boxes on the crowd. The man who carries a weapon is usually the man who should not be allowed to do so; and the peaceable, self-possessed man who might be trusted not to use the weapon wantonly is always unarmed and a prey to the tough, the blackguard, the hoodlum, the thief and the killer. The law ought to be repealed or enforced.

A LONDON paper is of the opinion that the United States has no exclusive title to Bering sea for the reason that Russia had no such title to convey. Our English friends will be obliged to do some [illegible] they will find that Russia always claimed, asserted and maintained the very rights we are now contending for, and that we are her successors and assigns. It is the duty of this Government to maintain all our rights in Alaskan waters. The seals are not fish, they are animals. They are born on American soil, and are ours wherever they roam. While in Alaskan waters they certainly are not trespassing on British possessions, and the people of Great Britain have no right to hunt or molest them wherever found. Blackstone long ago laid down the rule that doves from a man's cote were his property although they might fly fifty miles from home. Rabbits from a warren could not be shot even while trespassing on the lands of a neighbor. That is a principle of law we must maintain in reference to seals. Indeed, it would seem as if our Government owed it to the people of this Nation to go further, and maintain our right to all sorts of fishing in the waters of Alaska. Ships of other nations may be allowed to pass through those waters on their way to the Arctic seas, but all property in the Alaskan sea proper is ours. The sea is not a great international highway. It is not necessary to the commerce of the world. It is a closed sea to all proper intents and purposes. Foreign war ships ought to be excluded from those waters.

THE tightness of the money markets at the East is a phenomenal matter. In the spring, money in Paris, London, New York, Chicago and San Francisco was cheaper than it had been in many years. Today it is dearer than for years before. In New York money is quoted at 6 per cent. The Treasury has done a little to relieve this stringency by the purchase of bonds. But the ability of the Treasury is limited. The surplus at the end of July amounted to only about $71,000,000. Of this $18,000,000 must be held to pay September pensions. The repository banks all over the country hold $42,000,000, and the recent purchases were to the amount of $11,000,000, and there your available surplus is all gone, just six months after the Republican party came into power. That party never lets a surplus bother it. In the year from August, 1888, to the present month the Government purchased $77,305,350 in 4 per cent. bonds, $118,185,350 in 4½ per cent. bonds, or a total of $195,490,700 of the National debt. The purchases of bonds under all the rest of the Harrison administration will not come to half that sum.

TODAY the HERALD presents a second paper of the fur seal. This treats briefly on the habits of the seal, and will make plain how easy it is to extirpate the animal at any given point. The seal is timid as a result of helplessness. He neither has power to fight nor fly, to ward off attack nor to escape it. Indiscriminate slaughter must everywhere result, as in the south seas, in the total distruction of this animal. If this valuable industry is to exist and be of any benefit to man, it must be under a very strict police supervision, and the United States is the one nation which can exercise this control over seal hunting, for the reason that the only large breeding place left on the globe is in our territory. Unless protected as at present, in less than three years there would not be a seal on the Pribylov islands.

THAT old idea of the Mosaic code, expressed in "an eye for an eye, and a tooth for a tooth," and also in the dictum of the same code that "he that sheddeth man's blood, by man shall his blood be shed," is very deeply imbedded in the human mind. The extreme humanitarians of the present day try hard to eliminate this principle from our laws, but they do not meet with very great success. Capital punishment has been taken out of the laws of Michigan, and here is a howling mob of passionate people trying to get the captive stage robber and swing him into the hereafter from a limb of a tree, and on the stern rulings of that most obdurate of judges, yclept Lynch. It is always so in States where judicial hanging is considered a piece of barbarity.

THE London strike is assuming a very formidable aspect, and is becoming of international significance. This matter of the proper relations of labor to capital under the new conditions of this time, is in a very chaotic condition. It will take much patience and the very highest exercise of human wisdom to adjust the elements of strife between these two forces of life.

DEMOCRATS in the new district should all get to the polls tomorrow and cast one big, straight vote for C. R. Patterson, the party nominee for the place. He is a man in all respects fitted to fill the seat in the board, and he will look closely after all the interests of the people of his district. Let him be elected.

BONDS VS. LABOR.

Judge Gresham Decides an Important Railroad Case.

CHICAGO, September 1.—Last Saturday Judge Gresham rendered a decision in the case of the receivership of the Indianapolis, Decatur and Western railway. The case has attracted much attention, because the receiver, after his appointment, devoted the surplus earnings to the payment of the interest on the first mortgage bonds, leaving labor and supply claims to the amount of $6,000 unpaid. It appearing that the receiver had been asked to maintain the interests of the bond holders to the disadvantage of the claims for labor, the order of appointment was set aside. Certain recommendations or suggestions were then made by the Court and continued with leave to complainants to amend their bill. The suggestions were not acted upon, and the Court, holding that the receiver had been made the defendant for the express purpose of creating jurisdiction, Judge Gresham has now thrown the case out of court. The decision is a long one but is formal in character, and interest lies wholly in the result reached and its value as a precedent.

The Employing Classes Cautioned to Provide a Safety-valve.

CHICAGO, September 1.—The Chicago Trades Assembly today adopted resolutions declaring that the wonderful rapidity with which the great strikes in London spread from the dock laborers to other occupations in no wise connected therewith, and the active interest, sympathy and cooperation of great masses of the people in that city, together with the tendered and active help of workers in the industrial centers of Great Britain, Europe, America and Australia, marks a creation in the minds and hearts of the workers of one common and vital interest, that makes practical and very probable a simultaneous uprising of the great masses of angry workers whose will seems to endanger the existing social and industrial institutions and emphasizes immediate necessity for the employing classes to concede such reasonable reforms as will remove the possibility of a revolution that threatens such terrible results to life and property.

THE CRONIN CASE.

Farmers Summoned to do Service as Jurors.

CHICAGO, September 1.—Fifty farmers will march into Judge McConnell's court tomorrow morning as candidates for jury duty in the trial of the Cronin suspects. A special venire for them was issued without the knowledge of the attorneys for the defense. Judge McConnell yesterday quietly issued the venire and had Sheriff Matson dispatch county bailiffs in search of the jurymen. The fifty who were summoned live on farms and in remote suburban vallages of the county. By tomorrow night it is expected that some of them will have been accepted as jurymen or the defense will have made a big hole in the ninety-six peremptory challenges it still has in its power to make.

Destructive Prairie Fire.

LAC QUE-PARLE, Minn., September 1.—A prairie fire ten miles wide is sweeping the Minnesota bottom lands, and the town of Big Stone City is threatened with destruction, the flames having reached a point two miles west of there. Hundreds of farmers have lost all their hay and stock, and the fire, which was started two days ago by a party of hunters, is beyond control.

The Railroaders' Petition.

WASHINGTON, September 1.—A petition signed by 9,682 conductors, switchmen, brakemen, etc., has been sent to the Interstate Commerce Commission, requesting that body to take such steps as they deem proper to bring about the adoption of automatic brakes and couplers on freight cars on the railroads in the United States, and urge upon Congress the necessity of national legislation in this matter.

The Week's Clearances.

BOSTON, September 1.—A table compiled from dispatches from the managers of the leading clearing houses in the United States and Canada, shows that the total gross exchanges for the week ending August 31 were $958,421,333, an increase of 18.2 per cent. as compared with the corresponding week of last year.

Shooting Affray in Kansas.

EDWARDSVILLE, Kansas, September 1.—A shooting affray occurred here this morning between negroes, in which Bill Butler shot Charles Brown and an unknown colored man. Both were dangerously wounded.

A REIGN OF TERROR.

Bloodshed in Many Parts of the Country.

RACE WARS IN THE SOUTH.

Bloody Riot in Louisiana—Negro Uprisings in Mississippi and West Virginia.

[Associated Press dispatches to the HERALD.]

NEW ORLEANS, September 1.—This morning, between 2 and 3 o'clock, an excursion train loaded with colored people arrived at Gouldsboro from Baton Rouge. A large number of colored people were at the depot waiting for it. As the train neared the depot one of the excursionists, in jumping of, fell. Some unknown person shouted, "Look at the black ——— ———." The negro drew a pistol and fired four or five shots in rapid succession, one of which struck a white man named William Miller. Then the shooting became general, some four or five hundred shots being fired inside of fifteen minutes. This account of the affair is given by the police force of Gretna.

A TERRIBLE PANIC

Ensued, women and children running in all directions shouting and screaming. Ed Levy (colored), living in Algiers, was shot in the left arm, and a colored woman, named Fleming, was fatally shot.

Some of the passengers who were interviewed today stated that when the train was nearing Gouldsboro depot it was fired on by men secreted along the line of the railroad, and that as soon as the train stopped a general stampede took place. It is very difficult to locate a single person who witnessed the beginning of the shooting, outside of the police of Gretna.

Ben Watkins (colored), residing in Gouldsboro, was shot while lying in bed at his home after the general affray, by some unknown person who fired through the window. He was seriously wounded.

NEGRO CHURCH BURNED.

About 4 o'clock this morning a light was seen in the sky between Algiers and Jefferson parishes. The Algiers fire department went to the scene and found a large number of men armed with muskets and a negro church on fire. There was no help at hand and the edifice was destroyed.

Algiers, Freetown, Gouldsboro and Gretna are small towns close together, situated directly across the river, and virtually suburbs of New Orleans.

CONFLICTING STORIES.

LATER.—To the list of casualties is added tonight the name of Mary Carroll, colored, who was painfully wounded. The stories of the row and its origin differ very widely. The negroes say that before the arrival of the train there was a large force of armed white men in the vicinity of the depot, who opened fire on the colored people while the excursionists were getting off. The white men's version of the affair, of course, is entirely different. They state that there were only some half dozen concerned, and that the shooting was commenced by the negroes before the train had stopped. Two shots were fired and then William Miller was shot in the face by a negro in getting off the train. A police officer, brother of the wounded man, attempted to arrest the shooter, when the negroes opened fire and the affray became general. The whites about Gouldsboro declined to talk about the riot.

A RACE WAR IN MISSISSIPPI.

The Times-Democrat's Grenada, Miss., special says: A telegram was received here this morning saying that negroes were massing men near Shell Mound, Le Flore county, Miss., and a conflict between whites and blacks was expected. Help was called for, as the negroes outnumbered the whites six to one. A volunteer company of about forty men was raised here in an hour or two and left on the 12:15 train for the scene of the trouble, under the command of J. C. Longstreet. A company of cavalry will leave here tonight. A dispatch received from J. C. Longstreet and C. L. Townes asks us to send all the available men through the county at once. By order of the Governor, the Winona Rifles, accompanied by several citizens, left on a special train at 2 p.m. today for Greenwood, from which place they will go to Shell Mound to aid in suppressing the trouble.

The Picayune's Greenwood special says: There has been for the last month a negro by the name of Cromwell who has been organizing, as it was thought, alliances in this part of the Delta. Wednesday of this week a number of negroes belonging to the alliance movement, withdrew, as they claimed he was an ex-convict. A majority of the Negroes' Alliance voted in favor of Cromwell. The next day Cromwell received a letter ordering him to leave the country. He showed the letter to the negroes and the same evening the whites at Shell Mound received a warning letter from parties of negroes, who signed themselves

Who said that they proposed to stand by Cromwell, and that if any efforts were made to disturb him they would kill, burn and destroy Shell Mound. About seventy-five armed negroes came into town and talked in a very loud and threatening manner. Last night the Sheriff received information from Sunnyside, fifteen miles above Shell Mound, that there were 500 armed men who were massed in Johnsonfield, near there, and help was needed. He wired the Governor the situation and asked for troops, which was responded to by Governor Lowry in person, bringing with him five companies of militia. Governor Lowry has sent two companies to Sunnyside to report to the Sheriff, who went up there this morning to see if he could do anything with the negroes. The steamboat running between here and Sharkey has just come in, bringing a number of women and children. There have been several reports from the scene of the trouble this evening, one of which was that the negroes had left the vicinity of Sunnyside, breaking up into small bands of twenty or thirty, and seemed to be sulky and mad.

NEGRO UPRISING IN WEST VIRGINIA.

PITTSBURG, Pa., September 1.—A special from Wheeling, W. Va., says: There is a good deal of anxiety over the news of a threatened race war at the New River valley, Fayette county. Information from the scene of the threatened trouble is meagre, but is of such a nature as to give rise to fears that a serious breach of the peace will occur. The trouble had its origin Friday evening when a negro went into the store of Beary, Cooper & Co., at Echo, and, brandishing a club, threatened to do up the entire force of employees. All efforts to pacify him were futile, and one of the clerks, after receiving a bad blow from his club, shot the negro, killing him instantly. Echo is the center of a considerable colored population, and last night information was received at Charleston that a mob of negroes had collected on New river, and that a concerted onslaught on the whites was in contemplation. Orders were also received by Charleston hardware stores for all the Winchester rifles available, and a considerable shipment of these arms was made. The citizens of Charleston are also gathering arms, and it was apprehended the military would be ordered out. Nothing additional has been heard up to 10 o'clock tonight.

THE GOGEBIC ROBBER.

No Law to Hang Him but a Mob Ready to Do the Job.

MARQUETTE, Mich., September 1.—Holzhay, the Gogebic stage robber, was taken south by the Gogebic Sheriff on a train this afternoon. The prisoner was defiant and his demeanor showed him to be ready for any desperate deed. It is expected that if he is not very closely guarded he will make a determined attempt to escape. A great crowd congregated at the depot to see the noted bandit. Holzhay did not relish their scrutiny and remarked to the officer with him: "If I had my guns and was free they wouldn't be so anxious to get close to me."

To the officers who guarded him last night, Holzhay admitted that he was the man who went through a Milwaukee and Northern train, near Ellis Junction, last May, and afterwards held up the passengers on a Wisconsin Central train, and robbed several stage coaches in Northern Wisconsin, besides committing many minor depredations.

The driver of the Gogebic stage last week, was brought here today by the Sheriff and immediately identified Holzhay as the man who did the job.

HIS ONLY REGRET.

The only regret Holzhay expresses in connection with all his criminal career is that the two officers at Republic effected his capture so easily. He says he was determined not to be taken alive, and had he the slightest inkling of their purpose when they were approaching him, he would have shot both down unhesitatingly. The proof against the man without his admissions to the officers is complete, and unless he escapes from the officials or succeeds in suiciding, he is booked for a life term in the State Prison. Capital punishment was abolished in Michigan a number of years ago.

A MOB READY TO LYNCH HIM.

BESSEMER, Mich., September 1.—Sheriff Foley is expected to arrive from Marquette, between 1 and 2 o'clock in the morning, with the train robber, Holzhay. The streets and saloons are crowded tonight, and there is much talk of lynching him before the stage, which meets the train at North Bessemer, reaches the city. The crowd contains many who have being drinking heavily through the day and feel very ugly. No one will go to bed until the prisoner is either safe in the County Jail or else dangling from some convenient bough in the forest.

SAFELY JAILED.

MARQUETTE, Michigan, September 2.—A dispatch from Bessemer says: The highwayman under the escort of Sheriff Foley, reached North Bessemer at 12:55 a. m. They took the stage there and proceeding to Bessemer, arrived at that [illegible] was [illegible].

A CATTLEMAN FLEECED.

How He Dropped His Little Wad to a Professional Gambler.

KANSAS CITY, September 1.—The Chief of Police wants Bud Guion, of Chicago. Guion is a gambler. He came here a week ago and registered at one of the prominent hotels, giving it out that he was a cattle buyer from New York. Cornelius C. Quinlan, one of the most prominent sellers of cattle in the Southwest, with headquarters in this city, was stopping at the same hotel and cultivated the acquaintance of Guion. Their acquaintance ripened into intimacy. Guion proposed a little game of poker. Quinlan is something of a poker player himself. They went to Guion's room. Among the furniture there was a handsome inlaid table, a present, so Mr. Guion described it, that he prized very highly. The poker game was played on this table. The first night Mr. Quinlan lost his ready cash. The next night he went "heeled" with $13,000 in cash. He went away without it. The next night $4,000 in cash was won by Mr. Guion, together with a like amount in promissory notes, his watch and chain, two diamond studs and a ring. The Kansas City man became suspicious and the next morning notified the police that he had been swindled, but Mr. Guion had fled, and now it is alleged that the inlaid table assisted him in a marked degree in winning some twenty odd thousand dollars from Quinlain.

LIVELY SHOOTING AFFRAY.

Rocky Mountain Worthies Fight With Winchesters.

ROCKY FORD, Col., September 1.—A shooting affray occurred at this place last night between Cattle Inspector Joe Wyatt, United States Marshal Maxwell of Pueblo, John Miller and others, in which Miller received two wounds, one of which broke his right leg, the other wound being received in the groin. A ball fired from a Winchester by Miller after he had fallen, cut the skin of Wyatt's neck. Ike Freshour, though no way connected with the fight, was seriously wounded in the left shoulder. The Miller boys are all residents of La Junta. An old feud has long existed between them and Inspector Wyatt. The trouble culminated over a suit brought from La Junta before Justice Gobit, against George Hall, colored. All the parties concerned were arrested by the local authorities and placed under bonds of $1,000 each. About forty shots were fired.

Shooting in Indian Territory.

KANSAS CITY, September 1.—The Times special from Vinta, Indian Territory, says: A shooting affray yesterday at Table Springs resulted in the death of two men named Moriana and Given. Given had accused Moriana and a man named Pixley of horse-stealing. In the quarrel which ensued, Given and Moriana drew revolvers and fired until both had fallen. Pixley pounded Given's brains out with a hammer. Moriana died shortly after.

Murderers Treed.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., September 1.—The two burglars who killed John Lawrence at Montevallo on Friday night when Lawrence discovered them in the act of robbing his uncle's store, were both captured yesterday. One of them confessed this morning. When found they were up a tree within fifty feet of where the murder was committed.

MASS MEETING IN HYDE PARK.

Noted Churchmen Sympathize with the Strike Movement—News from Samoa.

[Associated Press Dispatches to the HERALD.]

LONDON, September 1.—Two thousand coalheavers and bargemen employed by Parker & Lambert have joined the strikers. The Council of Strikers held a meeting last evening, and, after a long discussion on the situation, decided to continue the strike. A monster meeting of strikers was held in Hyde Park this afternoon. Mr. Burns, the socialist agitator and other labor leaders made speeches. Resolutions declaring that the men would continue to strike until their demands were fully conceded were unanimously adopted. The enormous crowd dispersed in an orderly manner.

Cardinal Manning sent a message to Hyde Park to request Mr. Burns to visit him. In compliance with the invitation Burns called upon the Cardinal after the meeting, when His Eminence expressed admiration at the excellent order maintained, and congratulated Burns upon the general good behavior of the strikers.

A mass meeting of dockmen and others was held at Southwark, at which the project was mooted to form a separate committee for South London, in order to have a better voice in the conduct of the strike. Mr. Quelch, as leader of the Social Democratic Federation, denounced the manifesto calling for a general strike; but for that he believes the dock directors would have yielded to the strikers' demands.

Canon Liddon, of St. Paul's, has subscribed to the relief fund. In a sermon at York today, Canon Fleming expressed sympathy with the strikers.

It is estimated that 15,000 persons took part in the demonstration at Hyde Park. During the progress of the meeting Burns and others passed through the crowd and took up a collection for the benefit of the strikers. Money was received in hats and open parasols, and a large sum was obtained. An American gentleman who was present gave a handsome donation. In an interview Burns said the strike committee had decided not to have a procession tomorrow. They propose to devote the day to real work, especially to improving the methods of collecting funds.

Five thousand railway men held a meeting at Darlington today and decided to strike unless shorter hours of labor were granted.

FROM SAMOA.

Admiral Kimberly Banqueted—Malietoa's Distrust.

APIA, Samoa, August 15.—A banquet was given last night to Admiral Kimberly and his two staff officers, Lieutenants Rittenhouse and Merriam, by the American and English residents of Apia. Speeches were made by the Admiral, Lieutenant Rittenhouse and others. Admiral Kimberly thanked the people of Apia for their kindness to himself [illegible] last night. The chiefs Manga and Asi, who with Malietoa have returned from exile on the Marshall islands, state that when Malietoa was taken on board the gunboat Wolf at Jaluit to be returned to Samoa, he thought the Germans were going to take him back to the Cameroons, and jumped overboard, but was afterward rescued.

Mexican Matters.

CITY OF MEXICO (via Galveston), September 1.—Repeated trials of Krupp Cannon before the President and Army Board gave very satisfactory results.

A new bank will soon be established in Chiapao.

A company here proposes to bring Irish colonists to Mexico to people the lands, and the negro emigration scheme meets with little chance of success in the Southern Mexican States. The Mexicans have no faith in it.

The Peace of Sedan.

BERLIN, September 1.—The anniversary of the battle of Sedan was observed here by a public meeting and grand pyrotechnical display. Herr Stocker, Court Chaplain, delivered an oration. The National Zeitung, commenting on the anniversary, observes that peace has been prolonged beyond expectation, but that the cost of armed peace is enormous. Other papers review the history of Germany since the Franco-Prussian war.

Annexation Refused.

PARIS, September 1.—The French Government has declined to accede to the request of the people of New Hebrides for the annexation of the islands by France. The refusal is based on the ground that France does not wish to infringe upon her convention with England relative to the New Hebrides.

The Bering Sea Controversy.

LONDON, September 1.—The Observer, commenting on the Bering sea question, says: An American company could not buy what Russia had not to sell, namely the right of exclusive property in Bering sea. A most unanswerable protest against Russia's claim to the Bering sea was issued by President Pierce's administration.

Government Telephones.

PARIS, September 1.—In accordance with the law recently passed, the Government today took formal possession of the telephone stations. The company protested against the Government's action as illegal, and only submitted to force.

SPORT AND ADVENTURE.

Graham Goes Over Niagara in a Barrel.

THE FEAT SAFELY ACCOMPLISHED

San Francisco and Oakland Play Good Ball—An Aeronaut's Thrilling Experience.

[Associated Press Dispatches to the HERALD.]

NIAGARA FALLS, September 1.—Last Sunday afternoon Carlisle D. Graham made a successful trip through the Whirlpool rapids, the Mælstrom and Foster's Flats, that was preparatory to his effort today to pass over the falls, which, according to Graham himself and a few eye-witnesses, was accomplished in safety. The same barrel was used. At 6 o'clock this morning it was towed out into the river by two friends of Graham, and at 6:45 it was let go at a point opposite Chippewa creek. Down the current it swept, plunging over the reefs, often out of sight, till at 7:10 it approached the brink and dropped 200 feet into the abyss below.

The barrel soon rose, intact, and was descried in an eddy. Elmer Jones swam out from the Canadian shore, caught hold of a rope attached to the barrel, and towed it in shore, where just at 7:25 a.m. Graham was lifted out by Jones and Cahill, and was quickly brought, more dead than alive, to Hore's saloon, on this side. Graham himself says: "The first thing I knew was when someone struck the barrel and said, 'Graham, are you alive?'"

He complained of terrible pains in the back and head, from the rocking he had received, and could talk but incoherently. About a dozen people verify the statement that Graham was in the barrel, and many more will say they saw the barrel go over.

BASEBALL.

The San Francisco Boys Do Some Errorless Playing.

STOCKTON, September 1.—The San Franciscos put up an errorless game this afternoon, and banged the leather all over, defeating the champions by a score of 15 to 4.

Harper pitched three innings, but had no control of the ball, and was relieved by Hunolt. In the first Frisco made three runs on a double, passed ball, single wild pitch and an error. In the third, Levy's triple, three singles, two wild pitches and two wild throws give the 'Friscos five runs. In the fourth Eberight retired with a hurt finger, Depaugher taking his place. In the fifth Whitehead's double, Creamer's single and Hunolt's fly out to Levy, who made a circus catch, gave Stockton a run. A two-bagger by Perrier and a wild pitch error, base on balls, and a single, gave the Friscos two more runs. In the sixth Stickney's base on balls, a single by Smith and a home run by Depaugher, gave the Stocktons three earned runs. In the eighth Sheat's home run and numerous singles gave the Friscos five runs.

THE SACRAMENTOS KALSOMINED.

SAN FRANCISCO, September 1.—Oakland defeated Sacramento to-day by a score of 15 to 0. For six innings the game was a good one, neither side scoring, but after that Sacramento went to pieces. The batteries were: Oakland, Wehrle and Stallings; Sacramento, Zeigle and Lohman. Oakland played a perfect game in the field and batted well, while Sacramento did just the reverse.

ASSOCIATION GAMES.

MRS. MAYBRICK'S PARAMOUR.

Brierly Comes to America to Escape Notoriety.

BOSTON, September 1.—Albert Brierly, the Liverpool merchant, who has gained world-wide notoriety through his connection with the Maybrick murder, was a cabin passenger on the Cunard steamship Scythia, which arrived at East Boston this morning. To a reporter he said: "I have no statement to make. When I left England I told all there was to say. I came to America to escape notoriety, and do not want to figure in the daily journals."

He said he heard of Mrs. Maybrick's reprieve at Queenstown.

"Is it true that you paid costs of the trial, amounting to £6,500?"

"Yes," he answered, "that was the sum."

"Do you care to say anything regarding your relations with Mrs. Maybrick?"

"Nothing more than I have already said. All I can say is that I have figured more prominently in the case in print than any real connection with it warranted. Besides this I have nothing to say as to where I am going in Boston or after I leave there. I have nothing to say regarding anything and you will oblige me by bringing your questions to a close."

He then went below, refusing to talk further. After leaving the steamer all trace of him was lost.

A Thrilling Adventure.

LONDON, September 1.—An exciting scene was witnessed at an exhibition by Miss Beaumont, an aeronaut, at North Shields yesterday. In descending from her balloon with a parachute, the woman got caught by a lightning conductor, from which she hung suspended by one arm, far above the ground. There was a great crowd of spectators, and the excitement was intense. Ladders were brought as quickly as possible, and by their aid the daring aeronaut made a safe descent.

A Series of Fires.

Robber Captured.

SAN FRANCISCO, September 1.—A Chronicle special from Greenville, California, says the Sheriff of Lassen county yesterday captured the man who robbed Wells, Fargo & Company in Lassen county last week. The robber resisted and fired three shots at the Sheriff, who then shot the robber and closed in on him and beat him with his revolver. The wounds of neither are serious. About one thousand dollars was found on the robber.

Will Sue the History Company.

SAN FRANCISCO, September 1.—Judge Edward McGowan announces his intention of bringing suit against the Bancroft History Company for $50,000 damages. McGowan lately arrived here from Washington where he held a position of Sergeant-at-Arms of the House of Representatives, and bases his suit upon what he alleges to be false statements in the Bancroft histories regarding himself.

A Town Swept Away.

CINNOBAR, Mont., September 1.—The town of Gardiner on the edge of the National Park was entirely destroyed by fire yesterday. Only one house was saved out of about thirty. Many families lost everything. They slept out of doors last night. The fire originated in a saloon, and the wind was high, completely sweeping the town. All the troops and other Government employees in the Yellowstone National Park have been engaged for the last week in fighting fires in the park.

Noted Horse Gone.

TORONTO, September 1.—Drake Carter, the well known Toronto race horse, whose record of 5:24 for three miles some years ago has never been beaten, fell and broke a leg while training on the Woodbine track yesterday, and had to be shot.

FASHION POINTS.

Coming Season.

Stuart frills of costly lace falling over the corsage are worn on many bodices slightly open in the neck.

In new autumn gowns there will be less use made of goods in combination than of handsome colors richly bordered.

Some of the finest patterns in furs for the coming winter are made to fit the figure even more closely than those of a year ago. The cumbersome quilted satin linings are frequently dispensed with, and a heavy quality of silk is substituted, with but little wadding beneath it.

The Spanish mantle is worn with dressy toilets of every description. This model, which has proved so popular this season, was originally copied from one of real Spanish lace, designed for the Princess of Wales. It consists of a slightly pointed shoulder cape, with wide, black lace collar and very long scarf ends that cross at the belt and cover the front of the dress skirt to the hem.

Very handsome ladies' cloth, with new and attractive borderings, and soft English serges and cheviots are greatly used in the formation of stylish promenade and visiting gowns. Many beautiful dyes have been added to the standard shades, red gold, russet deeply tinged with orange amaranth, and dahlia reds, peach color, linden green and oak heart being among the novel colors in all-wool fabrics.

A charming dancing toilet for a young girl is made of misty blue gauze over a low-necked bodice, and full skirt of pale blue China silk, the gauze draperies, in delicious folds, kept in place by clusters of creamy marguerites with yellow hearts. An epaulet of the same flowers is set on the right shoulder of the bodice, whose sleeves are cut baby fashion. Another in similar style is made in pure white gauze and surah, with milk-white roses and foliage for garniture.

The greater number of the new bridal gowns and toilets for bridesmaids are tailor-made and are extremely elegant. Embroidery, pearl gimp and rich laces are used upon these gowns, the arrangement being artistic and novel. Skilled modistes now handle the so-called tailor-gowns of every description with great dexterity, and cloth is as effectively manipulated by them as silk or velvet, and is made up with a neat perfection which it would be difficult for a tailor to surpass.

Pretty and comparatively inexpensive tea-jackets are made of crepon or cashmere, with guipure lace fronts. The tints chosen generally run in the pale gray, beige, biscuit and the light almond tones for the woollen, the lace being cream. These jackets are made tight fitting behind, and with a full chemisette the lace fronts—sewn into the shoulder and side seams—fall over without concealing the chemisette, which is drawn into the waist by means of two cords of ribbon fastened at the sides and knotted in front.

Vividness of color, light tints and striking effects constantly grow in favor. It was noted this spring that brighter-colored dresses were worn on the streets than had been seen there for twenty years, and the tendency all summer has been further in the same direction rather than any relapse into soberer shades. The same story comes from Paris, and Americans returning from the Exposition tell that everywhere in France there is a perfect riot of color. Pale and brilliant hues, heaps of flowers, diaphanous materials and gold embroideries are seen everywhere.

Faced cloths for next season's tailor gowns will be trimmed with fur bands and with much braiding set on the foot of the skirt in upturned points, or in one or two much larger points, called Tour Eiffel designs, because they are broad at the base and grow slender at the top, which reaches more than half-way up the skirt; this trimming is directly in front, or it may be on both sides of the skirt. On the waist the braiding comes from the sides, beginning just under the arms, or it simulates a round yoke, or is in Vandyck points from the collar down, with also a girdle.

A novelty among long wraps, called the Ursuline cloak, is a conventional garment similar to those worn by nuns. It covers the wearer from throat to foot, has a hood and nuns' sleeves, and a cord as thick as a rope, like a friar's girdle, tied around the waist. It is made of thick, soft camel's-hair cloth, in dark carmelite brown shades, and is lined with thick silk. The girdle is wool cord, and the garment is entirely without trimming. Other long cloaks are of Broche cloth, figured all over, or of the new bordered cloths with broad stripes at the foot, or with corner pieces in stripes down the front and across the foot, while still others are of the soutache cloth woven to represent braiding in all-over designs.

Terra-cotta is a fashionable color for silk and velvet mantelets, as well as for cloth jackets. The cloth is often trimmed with a beaded edging or fringe of black silk gimp, jet being reserved for the silken fabrics. Long cloaks and pelisses of a more sober description than the ducal garments just hinted at are sometimes made with double sleeves, the under pair almost tight fitting; yet the long, straight sleeves falling to the hem of the cloak are still maintained, and upon them are lavished the braiding or what-not which forms the trimming, the ends being left comparatively plain. The full cloaks gathered or plaited into the figure at the back only, such as now worn in shot silk, are reproduced in woollen stuffs for autumn—now they are mounted on a braided yoke, at other times they are shaped to the shoulder by means of gathers and a short, round cape is added.

Some of the new "art" sleeves are so odd in style as to approach the grotesque. Many of the shapes are becoming only to women of medium build. Shirred, puffed, smocked and plaited sleeves are seen everywhere, and these are shaped in endless ways, some being puffed from the shoulder to the elbow while others are closely gathered into a tight cuff. There are large balloon-like puffs strapped or banded at intervals with wide ribbon. These are not pretty but they are fashionable. Others again have a puff on the shoulders, with a plain, close sleeve below, finished with a deep Cromwellian cuff at the wrist. Numberless combinations are made with these various elements. Bands of white and gold galloon are passed down the outside of the arm through full perpendicular puffs that spread out at each side. Close coat sleeves are very much trimmed at the upper arm near the shoulder, either with caps, braids or chevrons, or gimp-edged points and silk cord arabesques in fanciful devices; while on some of the new "art" toilets the open, flowing sleeve of our grandmothers' time again appears, worn with an embroidered undersleeve, as of old.

Ostrich feathers—straw-color and black, and of light tints shaded off to dark—wings and ribbons are the favorite decorations for smart hats, whether the foundations be straw, velvet or felt, the last of which is likely to come into wear early this season. Milliners combine colors freely, and yellow and green velvet ribbons are introduced into mixtures Very pretty hats are made of pouffed tulle, more often black, yellow or scarlet, and trimmed with black and colored wings. The same things are used for bonnets, though the most conspicuous novelty in the way of trimming is the new jet in the form of sprays, coronets, bands, stars and so on, of which the marchands de nouveautes show a large assortment. Set among billowy tulle or combined with velvet, China crape, or any other of the fashionable materials, they have a very pretty effect. Milliners are doing a great deal this season with terra-cotta shades and other reddish browns. Green is almost as fashionable as ever, especially in very pale shades and deep emerald tones. At the same time there is a decided leaning toward heliotrope and the particular shades of vieux rose that lead up to it.

HAVE YOU A COLD IN THE HEAD which does not get better? Have you an excessive secretion of mucus matter in the nasal passages? Are you troubled by hawking, spitting, weak and inflamed eyes, frequent soreness of the throat, ringing or roaring in the ears, more or less impairment of the hearing, loss of smell, memory impaired, dullness or dizziness of the head, dryness or heat of the nose? Have you lost all sense of smell? your breath foul? If so, you have the Catarrh. Some have all these symptoms, others only a part.

California Cat-R-Cure

RECOMMENDED.

CAPTAIN CHARLES L. DIMON, of New York City, formerly special agent of the Phoenix and Home Insurance Company at San Francisco, Cal., says: "I had been troubled with Chronic Catarrh for twenty years. A friend in Woodland, Cal., recommended your California CAT-R-CURE. I procured a jar, having but little faith in its curative properties; but I must say, after using three jars, I am cured of that disgusting disease. Inclosed find $5, for which send me California CAT-R-CURE for some friends, who are sufferers."

HOW MANY WAYS CAN THIS BE READ?

THE LOS ANGELES HERALD IS BY ALL ACKNOWLEDGED have been the prime factor in the discovery and making known of the resources of this section. To its sagacious outgivings more than to any other agency our marvelous development is attributed.

THE HERALD has from its inception watched with a single eye the budding industries of this portion of the State. For each good enterprise this journal has at all times had a word of cheerful encouragement. In spite of the skeptical, it has survived to see all of its earlier predictions fullfilled to the letter.

THE HERALD to-day takes the lead in all respects among the papers of Southern California. Its first care still is the material, intellectual and social interests of its section. It aims to be truthful rather than over-zealous in its publication of news; to be conservative rather than over-sensational, in its policy; to be clean and decent, respecting the sacred precincts of the home and fireside, rather than indecently salacious in its tone.

THE HERALD gets all the news from all quarters of the globe with promptness accuracy and dispatch. Its local staff is energetic and well-trained to miss nothing of real importance to its readers. It is always alive to all public enterprises.

THE HERALD still takes pride in aiding any legitimate material, intellectual or social movement which will benefit the people. No other journal in this section approaches it in those important respects.

NEWS NOTES.

The City Council will meet this morning at 10 o'clock, and will canvass the returns of the late elections.

The Board of Education will meet this evening and will probably take action toward the erection of the new schoolhouses.

The Knights and Ladies of Honor will hold a reception this evening at No. 17 North Main street. All sojourning members are requested to be present.

In the communication from Mr. Jos. Mesmer, published in yesterday's HERALD, the precinct C referred to was in the Second and not in the Seventh ward.

A good many people are complaining about the long vacation that the Board of Education has forced upon the children. In other cities the summer vacations are only from six weeks to two months, and in Los Angeles the old-fashioned notion of three months is adhered to. Private schools are reaping a benefit from this fact, and most of them here start up this week.

A young man named F. E. Hunter was either thrown or fell from a buggy on Main, near Fourth street, last evening. He was picked up in an unconscious condition and conveyed to the Police Station, where Dr. Wing made an examination, but found no apparent injury. Dr. Wing thought the man was either seriously injured internally or had been taken with an epileptic fit, but could not determine the extent of his injuries, as he was unconscious, in which condition he remained until after midnight.

SANTA MONICA.

Yesterday's News Down at the Ocean Suburb.

The showering clouds of Saturday had cleared away long before the sun arose on the Sabbath morn, and as if to atone for the gloominess of the previous hours everything was clearer and brighter than usual. It was also much warmer than the days of the past week, and this had the desired effect of bringing down a huge multitude from town, many of whom were doubtless attracted by the announcements regarding the Japanese daylight fireworks. But they were doomed to disappointment as far as the pyrotechnics were concerned for the manager of them not expecting any rain at this unusual time left the loaded magazine uncovered and as a result they were dampened and it was impossible to make the display. There was another disaster in store, and that was that the North Beach bathhouse was closed for the day. It had been attached on Saturday evening, so it was impossible to get the rooms opened for the public on Sunday. The amount of the suit was only $200, and a tender of $150 was made in cash and $4,000 in bonds, but this was refused. There was much dissatisfaction expressed on the beach at this high-handed proceeding, especially as it injured the attractions of Santa Monica.

The visit of the Senatorial party was the sensation of the day and there was quite a throng at the Arcadia to see the distinguished guests. The visitors did not have much time to spare, but they took in most of the sights, a number of them taking advantage of the occasion by indulging in an invigorating surf bath.

Among the many visitors to the Arcadia and on the sands today were noticed: H. C. Weiner and wife, J. A. Irvin, Baron Rogniat, J. M. Meredith, J. S. Salkey, J. S. Phillips, O. G. Knitz, Jr., G. S. Cole, A. T. Harvey, J. R. Miller, Mrs. Meade, Miss Meade, Hy. Steere, J. A. Muir, C. F. Smurr, E. E. Hewitt, A. B. Wilgus, C. J. Uthoff and the Senatorial delegation and committee. H.

A Stolen Watch.

About a week ago Poncet Seraphin, a saloon-keeper on Macy street, complained to Chief Glass that some one had stolen his watch, which he had left in his vest in the barroom at his place. The force was instructed to keep a lookout for the missing time piece, but could find no trace of it until Friday last, when Mr. Seraphin came to the Station and said his watch was hanging in the window of a jewelry store on North Main street. Detective Bowler was detailed on the case, and upon going to the jeweler's was informed that the watch had been left for repairs by a man who claimed to be a railroad brakeman. The jeweler was told that the watch had been stolen, and when the man who left the watch called for it on Saturday evening he was told to come Sunday morning, as the repairs had not been completed. The police were informed of this arrangement and Detective Bowler was on hand yesterday morning prepared to capture his man, who did not turn up until after 11 o'clock. The officer entered the store and wanted to make a trade, but the man evidently recognized him, for he ran from the store and turned up Main street. The officer gave chase, and captured him on Requena street after a hard run. The prisoner was brought to the station, where he gave the name of A. Belassich. He was booked on the charge of petit larceny.

How a Boston Rat Utilized His Tail.

A waiter at the Metropolitan hotel on Washington street says that there is a rat of unusual intelligence which haunts the hotel kitchen, and when occasion offers steals food from the cook. He says this rat ought to be caught and exhibited as a marvel at the dime museums. Several stories of sagacity are told about this rodent, of which the following is one:

"A few evenings ago," said the waiter, "I had occasion to go down into the kitchen. It was dusky when I arrived, and as soon as my eyes would permit me to get used to the light I saw a large rat walk deliberately up to a dish of doughnuts and begin to take them out one by one and string them on his tail as you would string beads. When he had put on five and loaded his tail all up he turned around, took the end of his tail between his teeth and walked off as if he were going to muster."—[Boston Post.

The Wealth of France.

During the debate on the French budget M. Rouvier, the Minister of Finance, adduced facts to show that France was by no means on the verge of ruin. Public wealth and prosperity, he said, had grown as well as the budget. Deposits at the banks amounted to 910,000,000 francs, and the capital embarked in shares and other French industrial undertakings showed since 1876 an increase of 7,000,000,000 francs. The deposits in the savings banks amounted to 228,000,000 francs, belonging to 6,492,000 depositors. That was a sufficient answer to the glooomy picture that had been drawn of the situation.

A MARVEL OF PURITY.

"ROYAL" A PERFECT BAKING POWDER—ABSOLUTELY FREE FROM LIME AND ALUM.

The Royal Baking Powder is considered by all chemists and food analysts to be a marvel of purity, strength, and wholesomeness. Furthermore it is now the only baking powder before the public free from both lime and alum and absolutely pure.

This exclusive purity is due largely to the improved method by the use of which it has been made possible to produce a perfectly pure cream of tartar, from which all the lime, etc., has been eliminated.

This chemically pure cream of tartar is exclusively employed in the manufacture of the Royal Baking Powder, so that its absolute freedom from lime and all other extraneous substances is guaranteed

Professor McMurtrie, late chemist in chief to the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D C., after analyzing samples of the various baking powders of the market, testified to the absolute purity of the Royal Baking Powder as follows:

"All chemical tests to which I have submitted it have proved the Royal Baking Powder perfectly healthful, of uniform, excellent quality, and free from every deleterious substance.

We take pleasure in announcing to the public that we combine the Compound Oxygen Treatment with our system of practice in the cure of Asthma, Bronchitis, Consumption, Dyspepsia, Insomnia, Sore Throat, Catarrh, Rheumatism and Nervous Prostration.

As is well known, oxygen is the life-giving principle in the air we breathe and ozone in the air imparts that happy and buoyant feeling after thunderstorms. Persons often require more oxygen than is in the air around them, and cause doors and windows to be opened, tear off collars, loosen the waist, and call for a fan to displace the stifling and bring fresher air or more oxygen. Traveling is done mainly to resorts where the air contains more oxygen, and mountains are ascended to breathe the ozone, which is light and ascends from the earth.

Oxygen and ozone are gases, and must be stored up and used by inhaling them. Our apparatus for storing and giving these gases, compounded with other suitable agents, is perfect; and, although they are not a cure-all, yet they are undoubtedly the greatest invention made in the last 20 years in any department of medicine, and the results are truly wonderful.

Oxygen acts by purifying the blood, thereby increasing the circulation, promotes absorption, improves digestion and assimilation, increases the capability of the lungs, and acts as a gentle stimulant to the nervous system.

The London, England, Lancet, very truthfully says: "The Compound Oxygen treatment is the greatest discovery of the nineteenth century." Clergymen, statesmen, lawyers, doctors, and all classes indiscriminately, whenever it is introduced, both use and recommend it.

J. B. Marshall, Kansas City, says: I gained 15 pounds in weight while using the Compound Oxygen treatment one month for consumption under Dr. Williams' care, of Los Angeles, and in three months I was cured.

Hon. Bert Monroe, Columbus, Ohio, says: I used the Compound Oxygen for about six weeks in December last, while under Dr. Williams' care, of Los Angeles, for bronchitis and catarrh, since which time I have had no symptoms whatever. I gained 22 pounds while using it. I never tried anything equal to it.

Mrs. Charles Gibson, of San Jose, Cal., says: The Compound Oxygen I used while under the care of Dr. M. Hilton Williams, of Los Angeles, entirely cured me of dyspepsia and rheumatism combined with insomnia, in two months, after having suffered for 16 years. There is nothing like the Compound Oxygen treatment.

Rev. Asa Bradley, of San Francisco, Cal., says: I went to South Cal. on account of nervous prostration. Hearing of the wonderful success of Dr. M. Hilton Williams, with his Compound Oxygen treatment, I tried it for one month and really during that time a complete transformation took place. I am now as well as ever, and weigh the most I ever weighed since I left England 27 years ago.

John Knox, Jr., D.D., of Hamilton, Ont., says: In January, 1889, Dr. M. Hilton Williams, of Los Angeles, Cal., cured me of tubercular consumption, which I had for six years. I used nothing else but his Compound Oxygen treatment. Its vitalizing force is wonderful.

Samuel Gray, Los Angeles, says: Compound Oxygen, under the direction of Dr. Williams, cured me of catarrh and throat disease in six weeks, after suffering for 18 years.

Persons desiring treatment by this system of practice can use the remedies at home as well as at our office, and which will cause no inconvenience or hindrance to business whatever.

I have seen so many of these cases cured that I do not consider any case hopeless unless both lungs are seriously involved. Even then the inhalations aid us in dissolving the mucus and in connecting and healing the cavities, which nothing else can do with the same success.

The very best references from those already cured.
